Chairman Morgan Defies Roosevelt in TVA Inquiry

Accuses Chief Executive of Withholding Cooperation in Correcting Conditions of Authority

CELLS PRESIDENT
NOT TO INTERRUPT

Directors Ready With Evidence They Claim
Will Refute Charges.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP)—Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, today defied President Roosevelt and declared himself not a participant in a hearing called by the chief executive to determine "the facts" behind the TVA's bitter internal row.

Face-to-face with the President in the presence of his opponents on the TVA board—Vice Chairman Harcourt A. Morgan and Director David E. Lilienthal—the chairman criticized the inquiry as an alleged process of fact finding and repeated his plea for an impartial, comprehensive and complete investigation by Congress.

Emphatically, he declined to answer Mr. Roosevelt's questions as to what factual basis he might have for the charges of bad faith and malfeasance he has hurled at Harcourt A. Morgan and Lilienthal. He referred the chief executive to a brief prepared statement asking for a congressional inquiry.

Accuses President.

He accused the President of withholding full co-operation in meeting what he considered the conditions within TVA, asserted the other directors were not adequate advance information of what today's hearing would involve, while he was not, and he asked the President to stop interrupting him.

On the other hand, Harcourt Morgan and Lilienthal were ready with a long series of documentary exhibits and oral testimony which they contended exonerated them of the "dishonesty" charges the chairman.

Just before the hearing adjourned at 6 p. m., to convene again today at 10 a. m. (Atlanta time), President admonished all three directors that they "owed it to the country not to continue longer to paralyze the public welfare by personal differences."

Harmony or Resignation.

He said that those who could not find the way clear "to work harmony" should resign.

At Chairman Morgan's request, the three are to meet the President in next Friday so that he, and they if they choose, may present written statements. Otherwise, a White House aide said, the hearing was over so far as Mr. Roosevelt was concerned.

The fight which has split the TVA for two years was brought to a dramatic climax in the green-lit, oval office of the President. The three TVA directors surrounded Mr. Roosevelt's desk and a corps of stenographers recorded the proceedings for the press.

Chairman Morgan, 59, tall, lean

Scenes in Vienna Yesterday as Police Break Up Rioters

Adolf Hitler, above, yesterday transformed Austria into a Nazi state with an ultimatum to use the German army.

Vienna police are shown above as they broke up a street demonstration in the Austrian capital yesterday before the threat of armed force by Germany overthrew the government and resulted in the formation of a Nazi cabinet. The banner in the center reads "For Freedom and Work."

Mounted police had a hard time holding over-enthusiastic Nazis in line as news spread that Chancellor Schuschnigg had resigned and Austria's No. 1 Nazi, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, had assumed the chancellorship.

Kurt Schuschnigg, above, deposed as Austria's chancellor, was reportedly promised freedom from arrest.

SALZBURG, Austria, (Sat-

German troops entered Austrian territory at this point at 5:45 a. m. today.

The first German army tanks arrived here at 5:52 a. m. on rail trucks. They had been loaded during the night in Ba-

At the same time men wearing uniforms of the German infantry entered Austria from Germany at Sallbruecken.
Whether they were Austrian legionnaires or German regulars could not be ascertained immediately.

The director of public security for the state of Upper Aus-

VIENNA, March 12.—(Saturday).—German troops moved toward Vienna in the early morning hours today.

Numbering about 1,000 men in trucks, they are expected to reach the capital at noon (5
a. m. Atlanta time). They carried several pieces of light artillery, the gendarmerie commandant at Schoerding on the Bavarian border told the Associated Press by telephone.

They met no resistance, and were heading first for Linz where Nazis prepared an enthusiastic welcome.

Reconstruction
Of Nazis' Coup

VIENNA, March 12.—(Sat-

lery sources pictured the march of the bloodless revolution in its critical hours.

In the early afternoon yesterday, Wilhelm Keppler, German state secretary, arrived by airplane.

He went immediately to the chancellery and demanded that Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's proposed plebiscite on opposition to Germany be postponed.

SCHUSCHNIGG QUILTS

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, March 12.—(Saturday).—Austria has capitulated to Adolf Hitler in a blood-less revolution which converted this nation into a Nazi state.

Faced by a German ultimatum threatening armed invasion unless the government was reorganized as Hitler wished, the government gave up its five-year fight against the German fuehrer.

Although authoritative German reports said German troops had crossed into Austria at several points, Austrian reports were contradictory.

One official statement said motorized units had reached Linz, 40 miles from the German frontier. Investigation indicated the report probably was unfounded and marching Austrian troops or S. S. (Nazi guard troop) units had been mistaken for Germans.

The bloodless revolution came after two days of violence throughout Austria. It was accomplished in eight hours.

Schuschnigg Ousted.

Swept out of office by Germany's demands was Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, who had fought to preserve Austrian independence in the old course of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, who was assassinated in a Nazi putsch July 25, 1934.

Succeeding him as Chancellor and Austria's man of the hour was Austria's Nazi leader, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, political friend of Hitler.

Seyss-Inquart immediately formed a new cabinet, with all but two members Nazis.

GROUP OF CITIZENS WILL AID FULTON

Bankers and Businessmen Confer With Commission on Financial Problems.

A representative body of citizens will be named as a committee to aid Fulton county untangle the financial problems occasioned by the homestead exemption law, it was voted yesterday by the county commission after scores of Atlanta bankers and businessmen had conferred with the commission.

A call for advice came from the commission when it was learned the county would lose an estimated half-million dollars in tax revenue by the homestead law, in the face of increasing relief and other demands on the county budget.

T. K. Glenn, chairman of the board of the Trust Company of Georgia, first voiced the suggestion which carried the commission unanimously. He advised a citizen's committee to aid the board.

Fiancee Flies To Join Son Of Pershing

Girl, Pausing Here, Refuses To Say If They'll Wed
In Arizona.

(Picture on Page 9)

Things were pretty lonesome in West Palm Beach for Miss Muriel Richards without Warren Pershing, so she flew west yesterday to Tucson, Ariz., where her fiance is at the bedside of his father, General John J. Pershing.

While at Candler field yesterday to change planes, Miss Richards didn't exactly say wedding bells would ring when she reached Arizona, but she left the sub-position. Chatting with a Constitution reporter just before boarding her plane she said:

"I wouldn't say yes and I wouldn't say no."

But, she frankly admitted it was "mighty lonesome" in the Florida city since her fiance left hurriedly several weeks ago to fly to the bedside of his father, then thought to be dying.

Miss Richards, a native of New York, left here on a plane for Dallas and Tucson. She had arrived in Atlanta the night before from the Florida city and was due to arrive in the Arizona city at 9:30 o'clock last night.

Miss Richards, socially prominent in New York, Palm Beach,
London and Paris, and young Pershing announced their engagement September 17.

An attractive brunette, she is the daughter of Mrs. Frederick Beckman, of Park avenue, and Frederick Lloyd Richards, of New York. She made her debut in 1932 and is listed in the social register.

Her maternal grandfather, Jules Bache, banker-philanthropist, gave
New York city a $15,000,000 art collection in 1937.

GROWERS TO VOTE ON QUOTAS TODAY

2,000,000 Cotton, Tobacco
Farmers Eligible; Two-Third Approval Needed.

Cotton and tobacco farmers will vote today on the application of quota marketing systems to those crops in the first elections under control provisions of the new farm law.

At least 2,500 Fulton county cotton growers are eligible to vote, S. D. Truitt, county agent, announced. He said he expected 1,500 votes to be cast.

Polls Open at 9 A. M.

The polls will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock at night at the following places:

Ocee Canning plant, Roswell schoolhouse, Freemantown courthouse, at Birmingham, Alapheta courthouse, Tell school, Rio school, Palmetto granite warehouse, Fairburn school worship and the ninth floor of the Fulton courthouse.

Fair, warm weather was generally forecast for the belt-wide referenda on cotton, flue-cured (bright leaf) tobacco and fire-cured (dark) tobacco. The issue is whether sales restrictions should be added to existing acreage allotment plans for reducing surpluses.

2,000,000 Eligible To Vote.

More than 2,000,000 farmers were eligible to vote in one or more of the elections, with approval of two-thirds of the voters necessary to invoke the marketing system for each crop. If this majority of the voters favors the quotas, all must abide by the rules.

If a quota system is voted,

Their Action on Czech Crisis

PARIS, March 11.—(By Wireless).—Independent Austria has come to an end. Henceforth, the little Danubian republic must be regarded as being under Hitler's direct rule and even Hungary can hardly avoid being drawn into National-Socialist Germany's orbit.

That huge change has been brought to completion within less than 12 hours through a set of ultimatums of increasing vehemence boldly backed by an ominous concentration of Reichswehr troops on the Bavarian frontier.

It must now be obvious to all that the national states in central-eastern Europe will speedily have to come to terms with Germany unless they know for certain that their resistance will be supported by France and England and, to start with, that those two countries will be willing to wage war rather than allow Czechoslovakia's political independence and territorial integrity to be impaired.

Meddling Likely Soon.

The Nazi government in Vienna is likely to meddle very soon with the quarrel that continuously goes on between the Prague government and the Sudeten Germans.
Therefore, the Paris and London governments are bound to reach a decision very shortly.

Austria's fate was really sealed on February 18 when Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain resolved to part with his foreign

VACANCIES CREATED IN NAVAL RESERVE

First and Second Divisions of Atlanta Will Enlist Men at Once.

A number of vacancies in the two Atlanta units of the United States Naval Reserve have been created through expansion of both divisions, according to orders received yesterday by Lieutenant Commander H. F. Dobbs.

Filling of the vacancies would be started immediately, Commander Dobbs said. Men between the age of 17 and 28, with a high school education and in good physical condition, would be eligible, he said.

The new recruits will become enlisted men in the first and second divisions of the sixth naval reserve district and will be eligible to cruise with those units for 15 days next August on the U. S. S. Arkansas to Guantanamo, Cuba.

Members of the units drill every Tuesday night at the Naval Reserve armory on the Georgia Tech campus, receiving pay for their work.

POLICE PENSION CUT UPHELD BY COURT

Judge Rules Differences in Old and New Allotments Cannot Be Recovered.

The 1933 slash in Atlanta police pensions is legal, and pensioners cannot recover the difference between their old and new pensions, according to a ruling yesterday by Fulton Superior Judge E. E. Pomeroy as he directed a verdict against the widow of a former policeman.

A recent state supreme court ruling on a similar pension reduction for Atlanta firemen held that such a cut was illegal because it violated contract rights.

Judge Pomeroy said the cases were different in that the police pension board was completely replaced by another body, and all the money of the pension fund turned over to the new board.

Mrs. James A. Hollis sued the old board for $2,478, the accrued difference between her old pension of $99 per month and the new $40-per-month allotment.

LOANS ON COTTON

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) The Commodity Credit Corporation reported today it had loaned $222,201,659 on 5,083,773 bales of cotton at an average of 8.38 cents a pound through March 10.

The number of bales, by states, on which loans had been made included:

Alabama, 752,863; Arkansas, 543,429; Florida, 992; Georgia, 412,831; Louisiana, 270,858; Mississippi, 534,821; North Carolina, 103,215; South Carolina, 226,002; Tennessee, 259,962; and Virginia, 9,367.

Educator Suggests Cities Plant Forests To Cut Taxes

Prof. Nelson C. Brown, on Survey, Says Roosevelt Approves Idea.

Advocating a system of municipal ownership of forests as "a means of cutting down rising city taxes," Nelson C. Brown, professor of forestry at the New York College of Forestry, Syracuse, N. Y., was in Atlanta yesterday making a survey of forestry conditions in Georgia.

The 52-year-old educator, who returned recently from a tour of Europe, is on a six-month leave from the New York college. He will spend all his time making a survey of forestry conditions in the south.

"Today, in this country, the government and the states own most of the park acreage and forests," he said. "This is exactly opposite from the situation in foreign countries, where cities and small towns own the forest land and get benefits from the trees."

"I am advocating that towns and cities of America follow the same plan, buying waste land and planting it with fast-growing trees. There are many benefits which may be obtained for cities by this plan."

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR AVONDALE HIGH

Ceremonies Held Under Auspices of J. O. U. A. M. Lodge.

Professor Brown enumerated these benefits as: (1) Offering to citizens large parks near the center of cities or towns; (2) stopping erosion of land near large cities, such as Louisville, Ky., thus preventing chances of floods and other freaks of nature; (3) improving the appearance of much waste land, which is characteristic of outlying sections of modern cities; (4) sale of the lumber from the trees, helping the cities financially.

"In Berlin, Germany, for instance, the city owns one section of land, consisting of 10,000 acres, known as the Grune-wald," he said. "From this one section the city last year sold $340,000 worth of lumber."

"During my stay in Europe, I visited dozens of small towns using the plan of owning a community forest. In each case, I found that sale of the lumber coming from the forests was bringing in money to the treasury, thus saving taxes. At the same time, hunters use the land, picnickers enjoy it, and flood dangers are eliminated."

Reports Roosevelt Interest.

Saying he has twice discussed the matter personally with President Roosevelt, Brown reported the executive "intensely interested" in the plan. He said the President wanted smaller cities and towns to use the plan and was experimenting with trees on his Hyde Park estate.

"While the monetary benefits of such a plan for Atlanta—or any other city—would not be great immediately, there is no doubt but that in the years to come, planting of small trees on waste land would bring great dividends," Professor Brown said. "Yet, the benefits in beauty and enjoyment by citizens would be almost immediate."

He said several American cities were adopting the plan and that later these cities would benefit by selling their trees for fuel, pulp wood, poles and other uses.

CORNERSTONE LAID FOR AVONDALE HIGH

Ceremonies Held Under Auspices of J. O. U. A. M. Lodge.

Ceremonies under auspices of Ingleside lodge, No. 34, Junior Order of American Mechanics, were held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon marking laying of the cornerstone of Avondale High school.

The school, located on a site settled in 1818, will be completed in four weeks. It will contain facilities for 500 students and is a one-story brick structure, located on old Stone Mountain road, north of the Avondale business district.

Speakers at the cornerstone laying were Judge Ralph McClelland and Mose George, both past state councilors of the Junior order. Records of the county school system, Parent-Teacher Association, coins and newspapers were among articles placed in the stone.

CITY WILL BE HOST TO OXFORD GROUP

Series of Meetings To Take Place This Week End.

Oxford Group members from distant points in the south and east will hold a series of meetings here over the week end in the first large assembly in the state since the Indian Springs house party last spring. The meetings will be at the Biltmore and will be invitational, according to leaders yesterday.

Among those expected to arrive this morning are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vrooman, of Portland, Maine. Mr. Vrooman is a nephew of Carl Vrooman, secretary of agriculture in President Wilson's cabinet. James C. Furman, of New York, arrived yesterday from the Oxford Group center in that city.

Others expected to include: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholas, of Abbeville, S. C., where Mr. Nicholas is general manager of the Abbeville mills; Dean of Men and Mrs. L. L. Hendren, University of Georgia, Athens; Francis Turnbull, vice president of the Turnbull Cone Machinery Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.; and R. W. Hudgens, regional manager, Farm Resettlement Administration, Montgomery, Ala.

Other cities to have members here for the meetings are Hartford, Conn.; Oxford, Ga.; Sumter, S. C.; Anniston, Ala.; Watkinsonville, Ga.; and Edisto Island, S. C.

BERRY SCHOOL AIDE, MISS LENA LEE, DIES

Dietician Will Be Buried in Crest Lawn.

Miss Lena Belle Lee, 40, dietician of the Berry Schools in Rome, Ga., for the last 12 years, died here yesterday in a private hospital after a year's illness.

Miss Lee was a Berry graduate, and was active in all affairs of the school.

Surviving are three brothers, Harley R. Lee, of Tampa, Fla.; Reno Lee, of Collins, Ga.; and Frank Lee, of Atlanta.

Funeral rites will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel of J. Austin Dillon, with the Rev. C. R. Stauffer officiating. The Berry quartette will sing at the services, and burial will be in Crest Lawn cemetery.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE SEEN AT CROSSROAD

Their Action in Czech Crisis Held To Be Key to Europe's Future.

secretary, Anthony Eden, and initiative negotiations with both Hitler and Mussolini. On the previous day, Eden had agreed on his own behalf to a proposal forwarded from Paris that both the French and British governments should jointly declare to Berlin that they would resist all violations of international treaties in central Europe.

This meant that France was ready to go to any length to save Austria, provided Britain would move along parallel lines. But Chamberlain came to the conclusion that Eden had gone too far in his adhesion to French policy, and, finally, the French proposal was summarily rejected in London.

Free Hand to Hitler.

This was the reason why Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, when he addressed the chamber of deputies on February 26, had to be studiously vague about Austria while he declared at the same time that France would faithfully honor its military obligations toward Czechoslovakia.

That very day Hitler and his advisers were practically told they would be left at liberty to deal with Austria as they liked.

This afternoon, Charles Corbin, French ambassador to London, instructed to make a new attempt to raise Chamberlain and the new British foreign secretary, Lord Halifax, from their apathy.

He telephoned Paris shortly after 4 o'clock that he had been wholly unsuccessful, that Chamberlain and Lord Halifax had done no more than reiterate with Joachim von Ribbentrop, the German foreign minister, on moral grounds during the lunch they had with him, and that they did not believe a Berlin Franco-British declaration to Berlin would serve any useful purpose, since they could not see their way to assume any direct responsibility.

British Position Reversed.

It was only at 9 p. m. that the prime minister and the foreign secretary suddenly realized the ominous consequences that would result from the happenings in Vienna and suddenly reversed their position, doing at the last minute of the evening hour what Eden would have done much earlier.

The energetic Franco-British step taken toward Berlin tonight comes too late to check German aggression against Austria, but in official circles here is interpreted to imply that Great Britain henceforth will stand by France so far as the Czechoslovakian issue is concerned.

Chamberlain, when he made up his mind to open negotiations with Italy on February 18, acted upon the belief that Mussolini had been caught unaware by the Berchtesgaden agreement and was inclined to enlist the good offices of the western powers in order to keep within bounds German expansion on the Danube. That belief of Chamberlain has been put to the test of hard facts and has proved futile.

Refused in Rome.

Some days ago the French government advised the British foreign office to make use of the exchange of views that had already been begun with Rome to urge upon Mussolini the necessity of agreeing to an examination of the Austrian problem by Italy, Britain and France.

Lord Perth, the British ambassador to Rome, could make no headway in that respect. Jules Del, the French charge d'affaires at Rome, was no more fortunate shortly afterwards. He met with stern refusals.

This morning he was ordered to try again, but Count Galeazzo Ciano, the Italian foreign minister, let him know it was not necessary for him to call if he intended to discuss the Austrian problem. It is not known here tonight whether Mussolini did condescend to receive Lord Perth, who was pressed from London to ask for an audience.

Italy's Approval Inferred.

It is only to be inferred from the above that Italy has approved Germany's action against Austria and expects that a stronger Germany, both in a military and in an economic sense, will help her obtain compensation in the Mediterranean for the loss of influence she has suffered in central Europe.

Henceforward, a Germanic Mittel-Europa will quickly be put in shape if both the Paris and London governments don't take practical measures to make effective France's commitments toward Prague. The western powers are now at a parting of the ways.

Horticulturist Seeks Cotton 12 Feet High

Dee Daniel, Hapeville horticulturist, may need a stepladder to pick his cotton this fall. Experimenting with some cotton tree seeds from the West Indies island of Dominica, Daniel says the trees are supposed to grow to a height of 12 feet and produce cotton for seven or eight years.

The plants, which are now about five inches tall, were germinated in a hothouse under temperatures ranging from 50 to 96 degrees.

DODGE CASH SPURS PLANT-TO-PROSPER

Eastman Rotary Club, Junior Chamber Vote $500 Extra to Farmers.

By MRS. W. P. COBB.

EASTMAN, Ga., March 11.—Joining with representative farmers from all over the county, members of the Eastman Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce met today to inaugurate the Plant-to-Prospers program in Dodge county and added $500 in cash for additional local prizes.

After addresses by state and county agricultural officials, and local civic leaders, plans were outlined to promote the Plant-to-Prospers movement as a leading county project during 1938.

A barbecue dinner was served to more than 100 guests at the county demonstration building by W. D. McCranie, county commissioner and leader in promotion of agriculture and livestock programs in Dodge county.

$500 More for Farmers.

The Rev. J. S. Hartsfield, Rotary Club president, presided, assisted by Will Ed Smith, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

R. F. Burch, state forestry head, and J. A. Johnson, of the State Agricultural College at Athens, were principal speakers.

Cash prizes totaling $500 will be awarded individual farmers in the county for local planting improvement by the Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce to create wider interest throughout the county in the cash awards offered by The Atlanta Constitution in the 1938 Plant-to-Prospers program.

Outlining a four-point Plant-to-Prospers program, Mr. Johnson urged Dodge county farmers and businessmen to "work vigorously to develop the natural resources and agricultural possibilities in your section."

Living at home, increasing farm income, conserving natural resources and stimulating home improvement were advocated as main points in furthering the prosperity theme.

"Dodge county has made some of the finest and most constructive progress of any county in Georgia," said Mr. Johnson. "Now, more possibilities in view for our people, you need to give all the stimulation and interest possible to the Plant-to-Prospers program."

"If you follow a planned program," he concluded, "You will continue to progress and you will prosper more than ever before."

Stressing the increasing importance of each county and home building self-sufficiency, Mr. Burch said that "permanent prosperity comes from the farmer rather than industry. We will increase our income through living at home and conserving our forests and other resources."

Blessing to Georgians.

Since Georgia is essentially an agricultural state, he continued, "The Atlanta Constitution's program will bless Georgians from the mountains to the sea. Farmers of Dodge county are especially favored in this contest, since the county's accomplishments in The Constitution's county awards contest provides beneficial foundation for them."

Draper from the local civic club prizes and cash awards in sight in The Constitution contest, he said, "will add immeasurably to the prosperity and contentment of your people and revitalize every channel of trade in Dodge county and your city of Eastman."

DRAPER APPOINTED

Commerce Aide Named to Reserve Post.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) President Roosevelt nominated Ernest G. Draper today to represent businessmen on the Federal Reserve Board.

Draper, who has been assistant secretary of commerce since 1935, came to the government from an executive position in a large business firm. He has taken an important role in the publicized part in attempts to reconcile businessmen and the administration.

If confirmed by the senate, the appointment will mean a raise in his pay from $9,000 to $15,000 a year and will give him a term of office extending to 1950.

Draper is 58 years old, a native of Washington, D. C., a resident of Noroton, Conn., and a graduate of Amherst.

CITY MANAGER NAMED.

CEDARTOWN, March 11.—H. M. Renner, former city manager of Elk City, Okla., this week accepted appointment as city manager of Cedartown, and has assumed his new duties. Mr. Renner also has served as city manager of Magnam and Woodward, Oklahoma.

CONVICT RECAPTURED.

GRiffin, March 11.—One of two convicts who fled the Spalding county public works camp Wednesday was recaptured yesterday. He was captured in Henry county after an all-night chase, Deputy Sheriff Sam Corley said.

Problems of Co-Operatives Discussed Here

Federal Expert Says Farmers Can Solve Most of Own Problems

Samuel D. Sanders Tells Georgia Co-operative Council of Growth of Activities in Joint Buying and Selling; Unit Elects P. J. Brown, of Macon, President.

Declaring "90 per cent of the farm problems today are made by farmers," Samuel D. Sanders, commissioner of the Central Bank for Co-operatives in Washington, D. C., and principal speaker yesterday at sessions here of the Georgia Co-operative Council, asserted farmers themselves could solve most of their problems.

Mr. Sanders, active in work of farm co-operatives more than 30 years, was appointed to his government position in December, 1935. In his speech yesterday he reviewed the growth of co-operatives during the past three decades.

"There are some 11,000 co-operatives—representing dairymen, cotton farmers, fruit growers, and existing for both purchasing and selling—in the nation today," he declared. "Some three and one-half million farmers comprise the membership of these associations, which are still growing."

Co-operatives "Big Business."

Pointing out at least one and one-half billions of dollars' worth of business was handled by co-operatives last year, he told the 75 attending members of the Georgia council "most co-operatives are beginning to realize how they now a business—in some cases a 'big business.'"

Also speaking at the afternoon sessions was Roy Parrish, of Camilla, manager of the Georgia-Florida-Alabama Peanut Association, who told delegates how his organization worked with the AAA in establishing a basic price for peanuts.

Elections yesterday afternoon resulted in P. J. Brown, of Macon, general manager of the National Marketing Association, being elected president, succeeding J. J. Parrish, of Adel.

Elected vice president was D.

New Chancellor of Austria, Seyss-Inquart

Acme Radiophoto.

Austria's new chancellor, Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, is the leading Austrian Nazi. He was forced into the Vienna cabinet recently as minister of interior by Reichsfuehrer Hitler at a conference with the then Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg. Seyss-Inquart last night sent a call to Berlin for German troops to prevent bloodshed in Austria.

New Chancellor Prunes Tree, Too

VIENNA, March 11.—(AP)—Austria's new chancellor pruned an apple tree today while history was in the making.
After talking and conferring throughout the night, Arthur Seyss-Inquart went to a big pear and apple orchard in an outlying sector of Vienna.
There he carried on his unalterable daily habit of tree-pruning.
After an hour and a half of snipping them, he returned to the conferences.

ing over a plebiscite on Austrian independence Schuschnigg had ordered for Sunday.
Nazi denounced it vehemently, claiming it violated Schuschnigg's agreement with Hitler at Berchtesgaden, February 12.

As tension increased, Schuschnigg postponed the plebiscite indefinitely.
Then Schuschnigg announced that, bowing to the German ultimatum, a new government was being formed.

He declared that "to prevent the shedding of blood" orders had been given for Austrian troops to fall back "in case of invasion."

Swastika on Chancellery.
Before midnight, the Nazi swastika flew from the chancellery and the city hall.

Vienna Nazis went wild.
Swastikas appeared even on flagpoles about the headquarters of the Fatherland Front, previously the only legal political party in Austria.

While Schuschnigg, President Miklas and Seyss-Inquart were in conference and before appointment of the new chancellor had been announced, many police and minor officials openly avowed their switch to the Nazi cause.

March on Jews.
Seven torchlight parades marched into Vienna Jewish quarters. Two Jews were Jewish.

Nazi crowds stormed the Fatherland Front building.
Windows were smashed.
Dozens of Nazis hurled torches and tossed them inside. Firemen stayed the building.

In his telegram to Hitler before his appointment as chancellor was announced, Seyss-Inquart said:

"The provisional Austrian government, which, after the resignation of the Schuschnigg cabinet, considers its task to be that of re-establishing order and quiet in Austria, addresses the urgent request to the German government to assist it in solving this task and preventing the shedding of blood."

"For this reason it requests the German government to send troops as soon as possible."

In a brief talk from the chancellery balcony Friday morning, Seyss-Inquart declared:

"Return to Fatherland."
"I wish Austria fortunate, happy return to the German fatherland. Make no disturbance tonight. March home in an orderly manner."

Inside, Schuschnigg made final arrangements for Nazis to take over power.

He was in the same room in which his predecessor, Dollfuss, died.

Schuschnigg had broadcast to the nation a moving address in which he declared the President "authorizes me to inform the Austrian people that we yield to force."

His broadcast ended with a wish that "God will protect Austria."

Reports that Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's right hand man, was in Vienna were denied in all authoritative quarters.

(Reports in London said Goering and Rudolf Hess, another of

CZECHS TO RESIST NAZIS AT BORDERS

Reiterate Plan of Defense Against Any Attack Upon Their Independence.

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia (Saturday), March 12.—(UP)—Czechoslovakia today reiterated that any attempt by Germany to encroach upon her borders would be met with armed resistance.

The Czech cabinet was summoned into emergency session last night by President Edouard Benes while the frontier guards were being strengthened and Austrian refugees fled across the border into Bratislava.

Before the session was over this morning the following communique was issued:

"The Czechoslovakian government is following events in Austria with special attention and considers the situation coolly and calmly along the lines of Premier Milan Hodza's recent declaration."

Premier Hodza said in a speech several days ago that Czechoslovakia would throw every resource of her armed might into resisting any attempt upon the country's independence.

'We Yield,' Says Schuschnigg

VIENNA, March 11.—(AP)—Following is the text of Chancellor Schuschnigg's radio broadcast:

"Today we have been confronted with a difficult and decisive situation."

"I am authorized to report to the Austrian people on the events of the day."

"The German government presented the federal (Austrian) president with an ultimatum with a time limit according to which he had to appoint as chancellor a candidate who would be proposed to him and appoint a government according to the dictates of the German reich."

"Otherwise German troops would march into Austria at the hour named."

"I declare before the world that reports which were spread in Austria that there have been labor disputes, that streams of blood were flowing, that the government was not master of the situation and could not keep order, were invented from A to Z."

"The federal president authorizes me to inform the Austrian people that we yield to force."

"Because even in this grave hour we are not minded at any price to shed German blood, we have given our armed forces an order that in case invasion is carried out they are to withdraw without resistance and await decisions on the hours which are to come."

"The president has entrusted General S. Schilowsky, inspector general of troops, with command of armed forces. Through him further instructions will be given to the armed forces."

"So, in this hour, I say goodbye with the heartfelt wish that God will protect Austria."

DAN E. BOSWELL, 71,
EX-CONDUCTOR DIES

Employee of Southern Railway for 46 Years.

Dan E. Boswell, 71, veteran Southern Railway conductor, retired, died unexpectedly yesterday morning at his home, 1327 Boulevard Lorraine, S. W.

A native of Hamilton, Ga., he had made his home in Atlanta for the last 30 years. He worked for the Southern Railway for 46 years, 40 of them as a conductor, until his retirement about two and one-half years ago.

He was a member of Battle Hill Lodge No. 153, F. & A. M., the Shrine and the Order of Railway Conductors.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. H. O. Garrett, Mrs. C. C. Aven, wife of the president of the Fulton County Medical Society, and Mrs. L. H. Lindsay, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. E. P. Jordan, of Molena, Ga.; three sons, W. G. and B. J. Boswell, of Atlanta, and T. J. Boswell, of Johnson City, Tenn.; four sisters, Mrs. John Blanks, Mrs. H. B. Balch, Mrs. S. E. Balch and Mrs. George Hamill; and two brothers, W. M. and George Boswell, all of Fort Worth, Texas.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with the Revs. L. J. Ballard and Walter Holcomb officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Hitler's ranking aides, would address Austrian people in Vienna.)

Promised Protection.
A source close to Seyss-Inquart said Schuschnigg was "being promised protection and we suppose he'll stay in Austria."

Graz, Styrian capital and Nazi stronghold, looked like a beleaguered city yesterday.

Soldiers and police, standing in places shoulder to shoulder, closed all important avenues. The business was isolated.

Housewives rushed frantically from grocery store to grocery store trying to purchase food.

Military columns with fixed bayonets and full field equipment marched up and down the streets.

"Heil Hitler!" greetings were heard everywhere in Graz, even under the noses of the soldiers.

Sing "Horst Wessel."
In outlying sections of Graz civilians yesterday gathered in front of machine-gun squads singing the "Horst Wessel," Nazi marching song.

A run was started on Vienna savings banks before they closed for the day. Depositors demanded any part of their accounts they could obtain.

Hundreds of terror-stricken Jews were endeavoring to leave Vienna.

All Vienna saloons were ordered closed Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. This was done to forestall not only political actions, but also political talk.

Hundreds of terror-stricken Jews were endeavoring to leave Vienna.

The head of the Austrian official news agency resigned. He will be replaced by a representative of the DNB (official German) news agency.

Marchers in Vienna streets often broke into the goose-step with agility, indicating previous practice.

Union of Austria and Germany Has Been Issue For 20 Years

By the Associated Press.

Germany took control of the Austrian government today after 20 years of intermittent trouble over the question of combining the two countries.

The day after the Armistice was signed ending the World War, Austria declared herself a republic.

Her first constitution provided for Anschluss, or union, with Germany.

Germany also wanted Anschluss, but the League of Nations ruled the two nations could not unite without unanimous consent of the League council.

As Adolf Hitler and his Nazi party rose to power, bringing with them a policy of church persecution, strongly Catholic Austria grew cool toward the idea.

Opposes Nazis With Life.
Little Engelbert Dollfuss, Austrian chancellor, opposed the extension of Nazism across the border. He paid for his opposition with his life on July 25, 1934, when he was assassinated in a Nazi putsch.

But the putsch did not succeed in taking control of the Austrian government. Four days after Dollfuss' death, anti-Nazi Kurt Schuschnigg became chancellor and chances for union of Austria and Germany faded.

On February 12, 1938, Hitler and Schuschnigg sat down at Der Fuehrer's Berchtesgaden retreat in a conference which shook Europe and caused widespread reports that Austria's independence was threatened.

Schuschnigg immediately reorganized his cabinet to include Hitler-approved ministers, declared an amnesty for political prisoners and loosened Austria's rigid restrictions on Nazi activities. He gave assurances that the independence of Austria would be respected. Hitler, however, in his famous Reichstag speech February 20, gave no such assurances.

Tension Mounting Daily.
Schuschnigg immediately began tightening restrictions on Nazis and sent troops to Graz and Linz, Nazi centers. Tension was increased daily by demonstrations for and against the Schuschnigg government.

The chancellor finally announced at Innsbruck, March 9, that there would be a plebiscite on Austrian independence March 13.

Friday Hitler started moving troops toward the Austrian border. Austrian troops also were mobilized.

Germany has between 800,000 and 850,000 men in its armed forces—land, sea and air—besides 2,000,000 reserves. Austria has 70,000 in the regular army and 190,000 reserves.

Schuschnigg immediately cancelled the plebiscite and resigned. The Hitler-approved Arthur Seyss-Inquart became provisional chancellor.

German troops moved into Austria last night.

Berlin Confident Austrian Army Will Obey New Nazi Chancellor

London Doubts Britain or France Will Do More Than Talk.

LONDON, March 11.—(AP)—Germany tonight crushed Austria's fight against Nazification with an ultimatum backed by the force of her reborn military might.

Diplomatic sources here summed up the day's developments as "Austria's complete collapse under the worst threats of German militarism."

Czechoslovakian quarters meanwhile said their vulnerable country next to Austria and Germany was taking the utmost care to tread warily in the grave Central European crisis.

Czechs Not Mobilizing.
"We are not mobilizing but we are watching the situation most closely," one Czech official said. "We are sitting tight and keeping calm."

Germany's action, scoring protests by Great Britain and France, created Europe's most ominous situation since Hitler defiantly occupied the Rhineland on March 7, 1936.

Italy, once Austria's protector, stood by to give the Austrian-born leader a free hand in a convincing demonstration of the Rome-Berlin axis.

British Cabinet to Meet.
All British cabinet ministers remained in London for a vital meeting scheduled to be held tomorrow.

Diplomatic sources in London agreed that Britain and cabinetless France would do nothing about Hitler's bloodless conquest beyond a joint protest they indicated had been sent to reinforce separate warnings to Germany of the "possible consequences" of Hitler's course.

The two nations instructed their ambassadors in Berlin to protest in "the strongest possible terms" against "such use of coercion backed by force."

Gravest Reactions.
Both Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador, and Andre Francois-Poncet, French ambassador, informed the German government its action was "bound to produce the gravest reactions, of which it was impossible to foretell the issue."

French foreign office officials said Italy had refused to join the two countries in "any action whatsoever" to defend Austrian independence.

In Berlin, where newspapers called Schuschnigg a "traitor," Nazis were jubilant but they said Hitler had no desire to have Austria made a part of Germany, but rather that she was to remain independent.

Diplomatic circles here, however, scoffed at this assertion.

SENATORS APPROVE
FOE OF MONOPOLY

Subcommittee Votes in Favor of Professor Arnold.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Professor Thurman Arnold said today he was anxious to break up monopoly; whereupon a senate judiciary subcommittee promptly approved his nomination to be assistant attorney general.

Arnold's nomination to succeed Robert H. Jackson, now solicitor general, was approved by the votes of Senators Hughes, Democrat, Delaware; Norris, Independent, Nebraska; Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, and O'Mahoney, Democrat, Wyoming. Senators Borah and Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, reserved their votes, saying they might cast them when the nomination comes before the full committee.

AUSTRIAN PRETENDER WILL GO TO PARIS

BRUSSELS, March 12.—(Saturday).—(UP)—Archduke Otto, pretender to the Hapsburg throne of Austria, plans to leave immediately for Paris, it was learned today.

The revelation led to speculation as to whether Otto planned to make another bid for the throne or rally his followers against Naziification of Austria by Adolf Hitler.

STRAIN PUT ON ITALY BY AUSTRIAN CRISIS

Fascist Council Reconvenes and Keeps Close Watch on Changing Picture.

ROME, March 11.—(AP)—The turbulent situation in Austria put the Rome-Berlin axis under heavy strain tonight as Italy's Fascist grand council reconvened.

An official announcement acknowledged that Rome was in contact with Berlin, keeping close watch on the rapidly changing picture.

The ministry of popular culture, however, declared the contact merely was normal diplomatic intercourse. Its spokesman said Italy was exercising "every diplomatic reserve."

Foreign circles saw Italy on the horns of a dilemma and in a precarious diplomatic position because of the Austrian situation.

Until ties between Italian and German foreign policy grew close, the preservation of Austria's now-imperiled independence had been a major point of Italian diplomacy.

But since the development of the Rome-Berlin diplomatic sources pointed out, any appearance of Italian intervention on behalf of Austria would antagonize Hitler. Premier Benito Mussolini would be forced to abandon either Austria or Germany.

Massing of Italian troops at the frontier now, however, was considered "most improbable." (In Paris, Italy was said to have rejected a French suggestion of joint action.)

Although the People's Front showed signs of cracking under the strain of events in Austria, its three main components—Socialists, Communists, Radical-Socialists—all agreed to the national union.

An official foreign office announcement said a joint Anglo-French protest to Germany was framed in "energetic" words and warned the use of coercive measures in Austria must bring "grave reactions, of which it was impossible to foretell the issue."

The chances of France taking any direct steps in Austria appeared slim, however.

HELPLESS FRANCE PROTESTS TO NAZIS

Paris, Without Government, Rebuffed by Italy, on Aid to Austria.

PARIS, March 11.—(AP)—France without a government and rebuffed by Italy on a proposal for joint efforts to save Austria's independence, stood helpless tonight as Nazi Germany proceeded to take power in Vienna.

At the same time, Premier-Designate Leon Blum, confronted with a threat to the peace of Europe, let it be known he was confident of forming a national union government—of all parties from Communist to extreme right.

Sources close to the Socialist leader said the cabinet would be organized by early tomorrow and would be ready to deal with events in Austria.

Although the People's Front showed signs of cracking under the strain of events in Austria, its three main components—Socialists, Communists, Radical-Socialists—all agreed to the national union.

An official foreign office announcement said a joint Anglo-French protest to Germany was framed in "energetic" words and warned the use of coercive measures in Austria must bring "grave reactions, of which it was impossible to foretell the issue."

The chances of France taking any direct steps in Austria appeared slim, however.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

Fulton and DeKalb Masons Plan Memorial Service.

Masonic lodges of Fulton and DeKalb counties will hold memorial services for deceased members at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Scottish Rite hall of the Masonic temple, Jack D. Weinkle, president of the Masonic Service Association, announced last night.

Dr. Louie D. Newton will deliver the memorial address at the Lodge of Sorrow. Music will be provided by the Joseph C. Greenfield chorus. Ceremonial stations during services will be occupied by Weinkle, W. E. Callahan, George B. Scroggs, John R. Burus, P. L. Bardin, Roger H. Bell, C. E. Hall, J. S. Irwin and C. McNeill Leach.

The negro was walking on Boulder Crest drive and stepped out into the path of the truck to go around a thorn bush growing on the side of the street, Oscar Hardin, driver of the truck, told police. Harding was booked on charges of "reckless driving—accident." The case was set for 10:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Citizens Group To Aid Fulton in Financial Problem

Atlanta Bankers and Businessmen Confer With County Commission.

and volunteered his service if they should be needed.

Superintendent Advised.
A county superintendent to be appointed by the board until such time as the Reed report recommendations calling for a county president could be effected, was also advised by Glenn.

Numerous other civic and business leaders spoke and were almost unanimous in disapproving any increase in taxes to meet the problem until every possible economy had been effected.

Commissioner George F. Longino opened the meeting with a resume of the county's financial problems. He estimated the county would lose at least $500,000 in taxes because of the homestead law and pointed to demands being made for further county services entailing additional spending.

Additional Expenses.
"The addition of Milton and Campbell counties has added to our expenses; we spend $500,000 for relief each year and have been called on recently to double that appropriation; we must pay about $750,000 annually for government-aided public works projects; we must keep up with the normal expansion of the county in supplying roads, lights and sewer service."

"It all boils down to two alternatives: raise taxes or reduce the services the county furnishes."

W. E. Mitchell, vice president of the Georgia Power Company and chairman of the County Welfare Board, outlined a gloomy picture of relief conditions in the county.

"If the people knew the seriousness of the situation they would be willing to pay the price, even if it meant increased taxes. There are at present 2,000 persons in need of relief who cannot get it because we haven't enough money. We should have a minimum of $10,000 a month increased appropriations to operate properly."

Says Citizens Willing.

W. Eugene Harrington, insurance executive, and others, said that the people would be willing to pay additional taxes to meet the problem and when they are convinced that expenses have been cut to a minimum.

"I do not believe the citizens are satisfied that everything has been done that can be done, and until they are satisfied they will not be willing to see taxes raised."

Ivan Allen, president of Ivan Allen-Marshall Company, expressed the belief the solution to the problem could not be found in a mass meeting, and endorsed Glenn's suggestion for a citizen's committee.

Plan Indorsed.
Most of the citizens present also indorsed Glenn's plan for the appointment of a county superintendent, working at full time, as a means for keeping the county out of debt.

Commissioner Longino stated after the meeting that, while he favored the Reed report recommendation of a county president elected by the people, he was opposed to appointing a county superintendent to work under the commission. He said such a man being responsible to the commission, could do no more than the commission could do.

In favoring the county president idea, he offered to give up his place on the board when such an office is created. He stated he would not be a candidate for such a position however.

JAPANESE ADVANCE LAUNCHED IN SHENSI

Drive Started Against Red Stronghold After Crossing Yellow River.

SHANGHAI, March 12.—(Saturday)—(P)—Japanese reported today they had launched an offensive in Shensi province, Communist stronghold and fourth largest province in China.

They said Japanese forces had crossed the Yellow river from Hoku and were spreading fanwise across the northernmost tip of Shensi, driving the Chinese before them southwestward along the Great Wall.

Chinese reports from Hankow, however, officially denied the Japanese had penetrated Shensi. The Japanese reports indicated they planned to repeat the tactics they used in Shansi province, establishing bases inside the ancient wall to insure against flank attacks and then driving southward.

The fighting was said to be going on in severe cold weather. The terrain in that region is rough and sparsely settled and swept by wind in winter. The province has no railroads running north and south and few highways.

A help call from the county commission brought scores of Atlanta and Fulton county businessmen, bankers and civic leaders to the courthouse yesterday to recommend solutions for the county's tangled financial problems, brought on by decreased tax revenue. At the left is Thomas K. Glenn, chairman of the board of directors of the Trust Company of Georgia, as he listens intently to proposals being made from the floor. Ivan Allen, president of Ivan Allen-Marshall Company, holds an informal whispered conference with W. Eugene Harrington (standing), vice president of Sprattlin, Harrington & Thomas, while Alvin B. Cates (right), president of Adams-Cates Company, watches the speaker.

Centralization of Responsibility In City Government Urged by Mayor

Hartsfield Tells East Lake Civic Club That Council Should Be Reduced in Size With Power Restricted to That of Legislative Body.

Atlanta's present system of government will break down under pressure of the city's growth into a metropolis, Mayor Hartsfield said last night in urging centralization of responsibility and a reduction in the size of council with restriction of its power to that of a legislative body. He was speaking at a meeting of the East Lake Civic Club in the East Lake school.

The mayor discussed the Reed report, pointing out that taxpayers had an investment in the survey, since it was paid for, in part, with tax funds, and asked serious consideration of the recommendations. His advocacy of a cut in the size of the council body from 18 to 9 members was his first public statement in support of this phase of the survey.

Hartsfield also spoke in behalf of development of the triangle in front of the remodeled city auditorium into a central park area. The auditorium represents an investment of $1,000,000, and a proper approach should be provided, he asserted. He said development of the section would enable the city to cut off the property, widen streets and increase the flow of traffic in the area of the building.

In his discussion of the Reed survey, Mayor Hartsfield said that while he did not agree with the survey in its entirety, he thought the majority of the recommendations were good. He cited the fact that nobody has been able to find a serious mistake or error in the entire report.

He attacked division of authority in the city government, saying that the situation made possible too much "buck-passing." He agreed with Dr. Reed that the size of council should be cut, he said, citing that material improvement followed reduction in membership from 39 to 18. This, the mayor said, was no criticism of personnel, praising councilmen for the harmony which has existed during his administration.

"This harmony existed, though, because councilmen saw fit to cooperate, the mayor told the club members, explaining that the body could "take all of the mayor's platform and scrap it if they chose to do so." The people take great interest in a mayoralty race, he said, and platforms are advanced faithfully, yet after election the city "head" is without power to carry out his promises. Council could take away all except the title, Hartsfield said.

Pointing out that the system is the same as ever, Mayor Hartsfield predicted that conditions under the present alignment would revert to the "old ways of strife, discord and deficit."

Professional politicians want power in the city government to remain split, the mayor charged.

growers who exceed their allotted sales will be subject to penalty taxes and deductions; from or, in the case of cotton, the loss of federal subsidy payments.

Corn and wheat producers awaited the returns with interest. They may vote on grain quotas later this season.

Sales Limited.
Sales of 1938 cotton would be limited under the quota program to about 11,000,000 bales, compared with the record crop of 18,746,000 bales in 1937. The blue-cured tobacco quota would be 705,000,000 pounds and the quota for dark tobacco 145,000,000.

Discussion has been vigorous. Secretary Wallace expressed confidence last week that the quota system would be approved.

Opposition in Texas.

AAA chieftains said, however, they had received reports of opposition to cotton restrictions in Texas, the largest producer of the staple, and to blue-cured tobacco quotas in the Carolinas, which grow the bulk of the bright leaf.

About 1,500,000 cotton farmers are eligible to vote in the south, 491,000 in the "new" cotton belt of Texas and Oklahoma—where soil fertility and machine methods combine to keep down production costs—and 10,000 others in Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

For blue-cured tobacco 270,000 are eligible, for dark 100,000.

HOUSE IN ARKANSAS HITS MERIT SYSTEM

Votes To Take Funds for Operation From the Civil Service Commission.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 11.—(P)—By a 48 to 41 margin, the house voted today to take operations money away from the civil service commission, proponents of the proposal declaring from the floor that their objective was to kill the "merit system" for state employees which went into effect last year.

The vote followed three hours of debate in which representatives charged that Governor Carl E. Bailey, who made civil service a main plank in his campaign for office, was sponsor of the nullification plan.

VIRGINIA GOVERNOR WINS SENATE FIGHT
RICHMOND, Va., March 11.—(P)—Governor Price won a victory in the state senate late today in the factional fight with legislative leaders of the Democratic state organization over the method of naming the chairman of the state compensation board.

Price supporters in the senate adopted a bill to leave appointment of the chairman to the Governor and to provide a salary of $2,400 a year. The vote for the substitute was 23 to 15.

MISSISSIPPI HOUSE ASKS INSURANCE INQUIRY

JACKSON, Miss., March 11.—(P)—Insurance rates would be lowered and privilege taxes on motor vehicles increased if one branch of the Mississippi legislature in each case has its way.

The house today approved a resolution calling for an investigation of insurance rates and the state insurance rating bureau. The senate indorsed a measure repealing the mileage tax on trucks and buses and setting a flat privilege tax on all motor vehicles except carriers of private property.

Muscular Rheumatic Pains

It takes more than "just a salve" to draw them out. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old Musterole—soothing, warming, penetrating and helpful in drawing out the local congestion and pain when rubbed on the aching spots.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly. Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster, Musterole has been used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong—(adv.).

tions against six other scheduled referenda.

The Dougherty county case is now headed toward the supreme court. The Prohibitionists Thursday filed a bill of exceptions to Judge Gardner's refusal to enjoin the election.

Petition Presented.

At Augusta yesterday, the petition for a liquor referendum in Richmond county was presented to Ordinary Oswell R. Eve. Court-house officials said an election probably would be called for April 8 if it were found to be in order.

The petition was presented with all the signatures notarized. A request by 35 per cent of the qualified voters is required for the calling of an election.

At Quitman, Chairman Ken Murphy, of the Brooks county local option committee said the petition for an election there would be presented the ordinary on Monday.

Referenda are scheduled later this month in Fulton county (Atlanta) and Chatham county (Savannah).

BIBB COUNTY ORDINARY PETITIONED ON VOTE

MACON, Ga., March 11.—(P)—More than 3,500 Bibb county voters today petitioned Bibb County Ordinary Walter C. Stevens for a referendum under the local option liquor bill.

The petition was presented to Judge Stevens by Hamilton Napier, who will handle the election campaign for anti-prohibitionists.

Judge Stevens said he will call the election Monday if county registrars will work with him tomorrow and Sunday in checking the eligibility of persons who signed the petition.

If Judge Stevens is ready to call the election Monday, indications are the election will be held March 30 at the earliest.

The petition had been ready for about three weeks but had not been filed while its sponsors watched legal action on referenda in other counties.

The petition had a total of 3,561 names. It needed only about 2,972 or 35 per cent of the number of voters qualified at the last general election.

PARDON OF MOONEY FACES NEW BARRIER

Police Captain Who Convicted Him To Appear Before California Assembly.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 11.—(P)—Lawmakers sympathetic toward Tom Mooney encountered new signs of opposition today as they renewed their effort to give him a "legislative pardon."

Police Captain Charles Goff, veteran officer who assembled the evidence on which Mooney was convicted of the San Francisco Preparedness Day dynamiting 22 years ago, received permission to address the state assembly, before which the pardon move was pending. He will be heard later.

A pardon measure failed of passage by only two votes in the assembly early this afternoon after Mooney had appeared personally to declare his innocence.

Supporters of the pardon measure, confronted with the possibility of challenges as to its competency, even if passed, took the position that the matter of legality and effectiveness could be determined after enactment.

DENTAL INSPECTION.

DALTON, March 11.—Free dental inspection for all students in the Dalton and Whitfield county schools has been made available through the co-operation of the Whitfield County Health Department and the Dalton Dental Society, Dr. Charles E. Engeling, commissioner of health, announced today. Inspection of city school children will begin Monday, and that of rural students March 21.

U. S. Outlines Tobacco Programs To Be Submitted to Growers' Vote

By the Associated Press.
Here is a brief outline of the tobacco programs the agriculture department will submit to growers in referendum today:

THE OBJECTIVES—To hold production and sale of blue-cured tobacco to 705,000,000 pounds and the dark types to 145,000,000 pounds.

THE REASON—Officials asserted market surpluses of these tobaccos were excessive and another big crop this year would cause prices to drop below present levels and lower the income of producers.

METHODS—The programs will attempt to hold the 1938 crops within the objectives through two methods: (1) acreage allotments and (2) marketing quotas.

ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS—The national acreage allotment for blue-cured tobacco has been set at between 850,000 and 875,000, and the national allotment for the dark types at between 170,000 and 180,000.

MARKETING QUOTAS—To be voted on Saturday. Marketing quotas regulate the sale of both types of tobacco so as to limit, as far as possible the sale of tobacco within the program objectives.

INDIVIDUAL QUOTAS—Each grower will be given a marketing

Candy Girls To Raise Funds for Democratic Club

They'll be candy girls today, all seven of these girls who will be on hand at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Dixie ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel when members of the Fulton County Women's Democratic Club entertain at a bridge party, proceeds from which will go toward paying the expenses of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's trip to Atlanta later this month. Front row, left to right, are Rosalie Voll and Barbara Ann Thomas; middle row, from left to right, are Bertha Mae Ashton, Dorothy White and Selma Ruth Werner; back row, left to right, are Clara Mock and Dorothy Adcock.

President Scheduled To Arrive in Hall County City Before Noon March 23 for Ceremonies Dedicating Square and Rise From Tornado Ruins.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—President Roosevelt will be accompanied by both Georgia senators and at least one member of the state congressional delegation when he goes to Gainesville week after next to take part in the long-postponed ceremonies dedicating Roosevelt Square, a midtown park commemorating the city's restoration from the disastrous storm of 1936.

After a conference at the White House today, Edgar B. Dunlap, of Gainesville, RFC counsel for Georgia and master of ceremonies for the dedication, said all arrangements for the President's visit have now been made. He predicted more than 50,000 Georgians will be on hand to attend the ceremonies, which will be featured by a brief speech by Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Schedule For Visit.

According to the schedule worked out by Mr. Dunlap and members of the White House secretariat today, the President accompanied by Senator Walter F. George, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., and Representative Frank Whelchel, who serves the ninth congressional district, will arrive at Gainesville at about 11 o'clock the morning of March 23. He will remain in the city until 12:45 o'clock that afternoon before proceeding on to Warm Springs, where he plans to spend about 10 days vacationing.

All members of the Georgia delegation have been invited to attend the celebration, but the three named are the only ones thus far who have made definite plans for going.

Welcome by Rivers.
Along with Governor Rivers, the two Georgia senators and Representative Whelchel have been assigned important places on the program. Governor Rivers, who is expected to join the presidential party at Gainesville that morning, will welcome Mr. Roosevelt on behalf of the state. Representative Whelchel will deliver a similar welcoming address in behalf of Hall county and the city of Gainesville. Senator George will introduce the President, while Senator Russell will make the address dedicating the rebuilt "Roosevelt Square" monument named for the President.

BODY IS RECOVERED IN FISHING TRAGEDY

BRADENTON, Fla., March 11.—(P)—Justice of the Peace Cheatham said a body identified as that of Dr. A. H. Jones, 68, missing since a boat accident Monday, was recovered late today from Sarasota bay.

Dr. Jones, a resident of Richmond, and Fred Hans, 31, of Alamo, Mich., both lost their lives when a wave overturned the boat on which they had been fishing.

DEATH DEMANDED FOR 19 DEFENDANTS IN PURGE TRIAL

Prosecutor Asks Long Terms for Two; Compares Yagoda to Capone.

MOSCOW, March 11.—(AP)—With for 19 of the 21 defendants in Soviet Russia's greatest blood trial was demanded today by Prosecutor Andrei Y. Vishinsky the end of a bitter summation the government's treason and order charges.

The only two spared from death were the once esteemed Soviet diplomats, Christian Rakovsky and A. Bessanoff, a former Russian delegate.

For them, Vishinsky demanded years imprisonment.

Compared to Al Capone.

The prosecutor, demanding the death of Genrikh G. Yagoda, commander of the once dreaded head of secret police to Al Capone. "We cannot leave such people," he cried. "They can do so much harm to our people as to kidnap people they want out of the way. But Russia, God, is not America."

Vishinsky's demand spelled almost certain death for Alexis I. Koff, premier of the Soviet Union for nearly 10 years after Nikolai Lenin, and for Nikolai Bukharin, chronicler of the Red Revolution—the trial's ranking prisoners.

It was believed also to mean execution for N. N. Krestinsky, an eminent diplomat; Yagoda, A. P. Rosengoltz, one-time commissar of foreign trade; Gregor G. Grinko, former commissar of finance; a group of eminent physicians and fallen industrial and political leaders.

For five and a half hours, Vishinsky heaped invective on the up, which he called "this stinking heap of human scum." His summation, charging them with treason and murder, was to show that their destruction would bring world peace and democracy.

Rakovsky and Bessanoff—whose bold testimony deeply involved others—had the relief of hearing the maximum prison sentence for Soviet lawbreaker, they thought, but the others, their pallor intensified by brilliant arc lights on prisoners' box, forlornly heard prosecutor demand they face firing squad.

Clemency Pleaded.

Defense attorneys pleaded for clemency for the physicians at a light session as the trial drew to a close.

Tomorrow, it was indicated, would be devoted to the custody last statements of the prisoners. Since Bucharin was expected to speak at length on his philosophical motives, the verdict was believed unlikely to come before early Sunday.

Then, if precedent is followed, the condemned to die probably would have five days at most to write three while their clemency are considered and two more before they are led to the execution wall.

ATS, OILS CITED AS STATE RICHES

South Pictured by Speaker as Chemical Frontier.

ATHENS, March 11.—(AP)—The south is the chemical frontier of the nation and will be for the next quarter-century. Oil, E. F. Nes, vice president of a Chicago packing firm, told the University of Georgia Science Club tonight.

The south's "chemical raw materials, especially the new ones such as cellulose, starch and vegetable oils, have hardly been touched," he said. "They are ready to be the chemical pioneers."

Georgia has the opportunity to become the greatest producer of oil and oils in the nation, he said. "Georgians should supply more of the fat raw materials of the most congested areas of the eastern United States," he contended. "The state of New York, for example, produced 74,000,000 pounds of fats and consumed 540,000,000 in 1936. New York must look to other sections of the United States for its supply."

Jones said Georgia not only failed to develop export markets, but in 1936 her production of lard, butter and margarine was "less than the consumption of these products in the state."

Prominent Georgians Are Enlisted in Plans for Help to Farm Women

Planning big things for rural women who will attend the Rural-Urban conference here March 29 and 30, a group of well-known Atlantans are shown at a committee luncheon yesterday. Left to right are Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state WPA administrator; Mrs. Robin Wood, director of the women's division of the State Agricultural Department; Mrs. Claude Smith, committee treasurer; Mayor Hartsfield, and Mrs. Preston Arkwright, wife of the president of the Georgia Power Company.

GROUP TO DISCUSS CONTROL OF CANCER

National Commander of Women's Field Army To Address Meeting Today.

Plans for expansion of cancer control education in Georgia will be discussed at a Georgia division meeting of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Henry Grady hotel.

Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig, national commander, will be principal speaker.

Delegates will include district vice commanders, county chairmen and publicity directors from the fourth, fifth, seventh, ninth and tenth districts. Members of the cancer commission of the Medical Association of Georgia, headed by J. L. Campbell, of Atlanta, and Governor Rivers, advisory board chairman, will be special guests.

In addition to the expansion program, the group will also discuss plans for a membership drive in Georgia in April.

Other speakers on the program are: Dr. George Traylor, of Augusta; Dr. T. E. Abercrombie, Dr. W. Schereschewsky, Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, state commander; Dr. Grady Coker, president-elect of the Medical Association of Georgia; Miss Fannie B. Shaw, director of health education for the State Department of Public Health, and L. K. Starr, chairman of publicity.

RAIL RECORDS SAVED IN INMAN YARDS FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin swept a portion of the record room at main yard offices of the Southern railway at Inman yards last night, but clerks working on the main floor of the two-story structure saved most of the shipping records stored on the second floor.

Firemen fought the smoldering blaze 40 minutes. Company officials reported damage was light. The structure houses the offices of Superintendent of Terminals J. R. Crang. Clerks working on the first floor smelled smoke, found the fire and removed most of the records before firemen arrived.

GOVERNOR TESTIFIES IN BRADLEY INQUIRY

CLEVELAND, March 11.—(AP)—Governor Martin L. Davey admitted in court today he "very positively" directed Lee Bradley to use political contracts in an effort to get business for the Davey Tree Expert Company.

The Governor testified in a hearing to determine whether Bradley, Cleveland asphalt salesman, will be bound to the grand jury. Bradley told senate investigators last month that he dealt with utility and automobile companies for Davey campaign funds. Davey charged him with perjury.

TRAFFIC CHASE VICTIM SUCUMBING IN MACON

MACON, March 11.—(AP)—Injuries suffered as an indirect result of a chase for a traffic violator proved fatal here today to Police Chief M. C. White, 44, of Alamo. Chief White died in a local hospital of chest and internal injuries received when he was struck by a car on the outskirts of Alamo early last night.

'School' Work Completed By 60 Atlanta Policemen

School was out for 60 men of the Atlanta police department yesterday.

They completed a four weeks' course of Red Cross work and general police instruction, conducted daily by Lieutenant C. D. Hardeman and Emmett J. Elliott. The men studied two manuals, one prepared by the Red Cross and one written by Lieutenant Hardeman under the direction of Chief M. A. Hornsby.

The men were almost 100 percent perfect in class attendance. Demonstrations of work accomplished and written examinations were held Thursday. A traffic school for the department would begin March 21, at which the Evanston traffic control system will be taught, it was announced yesterday. Representatives of the International Association of Chiefs of Police will teach these lessons.

Atlantans Urged 'To Aid Program For Social Gains by Farm Wives

Prominent Men and Women at Luncheon Hear Mrs. Robin Hood Outline Purposes of Rural-Urban Conference at Auditorium Dedication March 29-30.

A program of co-operation among rural and urban women to put extra money in the pockets of farm housewives was outlined yesterday to a group of prominent Atlantans by Mrs. Robin Wood, director of the women's division of the State Agricultural Department, who is chairman of the Rural-Urban conference scheduled at the dedication of the municipal auditorium March 29 and 30.

The conference, said Mrs. Wood, would seek means for feminine city dwellers to help market the products of the rural women and to encourage them to produce more things for sale.

Several thousand rural women, at least 25 from each county, are scheduled to attend the conference, which Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and many other distinguished persons will address. Twenty-five urban women from each county also will attend.

Mrs. J. K. Otley, chairman of Atlanta clubwomen and various men's organizations are assisting in plans for the conference.

Mrs. John K. Otley is chairman of the steering committee of the conference, which met here yesterday for luncheon at a hotel.

Mrs. Claude Smith is treasurer. Among the speakers were Mayor Hartsfield, Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state WPA administrator; Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Jere Moore, president of the Georgia Press Association; Major Claude Smith, Councilman John A. White, Faber Bollinger, of the convention and

Ex-Policeman Lured To Duty by 'Old Call'

The call of his old job led a former city policeman on a zig-zag chase yesterday which ended in arrest of a man listed as Harold Foster, 22, of Scottsdale. Foster was charged with drunk operating and violating the state drivers' license law.

The former policeman, J. E. Ivey, told radio patrolmen he "couldn't resist the urge" to give chase to Foster when he saw him sidewise a car in front of 990 Fair street and speed on. The car Foster was said to have hit had disappeared when radio patrolmen arrived. Ivey had run Foster to the curb about four blocks down Fair street.

ATLANTAN INJURED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

Police Arrest Suspects Within 15 Minutes.

Harold Simonton, of a Park street address, was critically injured yesterday afternoon when run down by a hit-run driver as he crossed Ashby street at Oak street. He was taken to Grady hospital.

Less than 15 minutes after witnesses furnished a license number and description of the driver, Radio Patrolmen J. C. Hopkins and E. W. Haynes arrested a man listed as R. M. Alexander at his home on Ashby street. He was charged with drunk and reckless driving, leaving scene of an accident, disorderly conduct and cursing.

Simonton suffered a cerebral concussion and severe lacerations.

JAPAN'S PEERS PASS CHINESE WAR BUDGET

TOKYO, March 11.—(AP)—The house of peers today passed the supplementary military budget calling for appropriations of 4,850,000,000 yen ($1,401,650,000) to meet the costs of the war in China in 1938.

The measure, which was passed by the lower house last Tuesday, went to Emperor Hirohito for approval. Of the total, 3,257,000,000 yen ($941,273,000) will go to the army, 1,043,000,000 yen ($301,427,000) to the navy and the remainder will be held in reserve.

WALGREEN DRUG FIRM ENJOINED ON PRICE CUT

MACON, Ga., March 11.—(AP)—Superior Judge Malcolm D. Jones today enjoined Walgreen Drug Stores from sale of Menthol-Mulsion, a patent medicine, for less than 69 cents.

The Walgreen company did not answer or defend the suit for injunction brought by the M. L. Clein Company, of Atlanta, holders of the Menthol-Mulsion trademark. Judge Jones' ruling came under the Georgia fair trades act. The Walgreen company was charged by the Clein company with having advertised its product for sale for 49 cents.

'LONG DISTANCE' BEER SALES HIT

DeKalb Grand Jury Promises Action Calling Halt to 'Drive-In' Practice.

DeKalb county officials yesterday studied presentations of the January-February grand jury and prepared to take action on recommendations calling a halt to "long distance" sales of beer at drive-in establishments.

Recommendation that no beer be sold "except on places properly licensed" will be followed by action, DeKalb Police Chief J. T. Dailey said. The grand jury hit the practice of selling beer to customers who park as far as 100 yards away from the drive-in establishment and place orders for beer.

Commissioner C. A. Matthews was urged in the presentations to study plans for a county administration building on the site of the McDonough street jail. The new building would make room for offices of the health, school and other departments. Recommendations called for Matthews to study feasibility of the plan and report to the next grand jury.

Outside rental for the offices which would be housed in the administration building could be eliminated, jurors pointed out. Praise for Chief Dailey and members of the police force for progress made in finger printing and photographing was voiced. The jurors further commended work of DeKalb superior court and other county officials.

30-YEAR SENTENCE GIVEN AX-SLAYER

Itinerant, 24, Convicted in Employer's Death.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 11.—(AP)—A jury convicted Clarence Fairbanks, 24-year-old itinerant, tonight of second-degree murder in the ax slaying of his showman-employer, Steve Good, of Cason, Texas.

The jury recommended for the defendant the severest penalty under the second-degree verdict, and Judge Parker gave Fairbanks the maximum sentence of 30 years at hard labor. The jury deliberated about three hours and a half.

Judge Parker had instructed the jury it could return verdicts of first-degree murder, second-degree murder, manslaughter or acquittal. State had asked for a first-degree conviction. Fairbanks pleaded self-defense. He said he slew Good, his employer, after an argument growing out of the showman's maltreatment of a pet cockatoo.

SAVANNAHANS ASK FUND FOR HOUSING

U. S. Urged To Finance $3,000,000 Slum Clearance Program.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) The Savannah (Ga.) housing commission asked the federal government today to finance a $3,000,000 slum clearance and low rent housing project in that city. Mayor R. M. Hitch said the city commission had asked Nathan Straus, United States housing administrator, to set aside $2,000,000 for the project. He said the city was prepared to raise the remainder of the $3,000,000 and to make annual contributions toward the maintenance of the property through tax remissions.

The mayor said the city was badly in need of a housing project in its slum area. He said he believed two units of 590 apartments each could be erected, with government aid. One, he said, would be located in the negro district and another in the white district. Each dwelling would have about four rooms. No definite sites had been selected, he said.

Hitch was accompanied to Washington by Fred Weasels, vice chairman of the Savannah housing commission; Cletus W. Bergen, supervising architect; A. S. Gobel, city engineer, and Alderman A. A. Morrison.

PLANE ACCIDENT DELAYS WILKINS

Tail Skid Is Damaged in Search for Russians.

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS.

(Copyright, 1938, for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.) AKLAVIK, N. W. T., March 11. (By Wireless)—An odd freak of the weather today led to the second accident of our airplane has sustained during our efforts to locate the missing Soviet airmen. The aiskid of the machine was wrecked while taxiing after a forced landing due to extraordinary conditions.

It was light and clear this morning until 6 a. m., but shortly after we took off, a snow-laden squall, as black and sudden as a thunder cloud, enveloped us, and, fearing heavy snow and "icing-up" on the machine, we were forced to land while we could.

SECURITY FUNDS SOUGHT FOR PWA

N. Y. Democrat Asks Transfer of $750,000,000 To Reduce Jobless.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Representative Belter, Democrat, New York, asked congress today to authorize use of $750,000,000 in social security funds for a vast public works program "to stimulate business and provide for the reduction of unemployment."

Belter, leader of the house PWA bloc, introduced a bill to authorize the secretary of the Treasury to divert the social security funds into public works channels and extend the life of the PWA until January 1, 1941.

Congress, at the last regular session, ordered liquidation of PWA by June 30, 1939.

G.E. BRYAN ASSUMES BAPTIST WORK POST

Starts Duties as Secretary of Training Union Branch of Georgia Convention.

Gainer E. Bryan, elected secretary of the Baptist Training Union department of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist convention at a meeting of the committee last week, has assumed his new duties.

Mr. Bryan succeeds Edwin S. Preston, secretary for 12 years who resigned in February to become executive secretary of Shorter College at Rome. The department in which Mr. Bryan will work is a phase of the state mission activity of the Baptists, directed by the executive committee, of which Dr. James W. Merritt is executive secretary-treasurer.

Associated with Georgia Baptist work for 16 years as a Sunday school worker, Mr. Bryan was active in training union work before that time. His home is in Forsyth.

He is also vice president of the Georgia Baptist convention, having been elected to this office at the last session of the convention. His office will now be at the Georgia Baptist headquarters in Atlanta.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden.—(By Mail.)—Mr. Hamlet Olsen, the Melancholy Dane, came along to Stockholm. He is the Dane who has been melancholy ever since his parents named him Hamlet. It has led to so many witty remarks at his expense.

"I thought it a good idea to come along," he said. "The last American I knew who went to Sweden got in very bad at the hotel."

"What did he do?"
"Well, do you see that room?"
"Yes, what of it?"
"You see what it says on the door?"
The door had a most astonishing sign. It read:
"Dam Bad Rum."

"That," I said to Hamlet Olsen, "is a most astonishing sign. In fact, I think perhaps it is the most astounding sign I have ever seen."

"You wouldn't go in a door with that sign on it, would you?" he asked.

"Certainly not."

"Well, then, perhaps I need not have come. You see, this other American who became a friend of mine went right on in the room. It was during the prohibition days and he said that he appreciated the frankness of the Swedes, but that no matter how bad the rum was it was not as bad as that to which he had become accustomed at home. In fact, the sign made him homesick. So, he went in."

"Well, what happened?"
"The lady screamed."

"What lady?"
"The lady who was taking a bath. You see, the words 'Dam Bad Rum,' when translated, mean 'Ladies' Bath Room.' But this American didn't know. He went right on in. I'm glad you would not have made that same error. It was embarrassing."

The Melancholy Dane seemed more melancholy than ever. He had just seen a new edition of Hamlet in a book shop window and he was sad.

A FINNISH BATH.

"While we are here together," said the Melancholy Dane, "we will take a Finnish bath. Sweden is the place for Swedish massage and Finnish baths. The Finnish baths in Sweden are much finer than in Finland because the Swedes are more vigorous."

"What's vigorous about a bath? A good steam is excellent. Why, even in Atlanta, one may go to the Atlanta Athletic Club or to a health club and get a steam bath. They are not vigorous."

"Follow me," said Mr. Hamlet Olsen. And so, that is how we went to Stockholm and had a Finnish bath.

"All I care about is," said I, "that there be no cold water connected with it. The people who take cold baths depress me. They are all right in summer, but in winter when the water has chunks of ice in it or is frozen over as this is here—well, I want no part of it. There is something wrong with people who take cold baths. They like to suffer."

"Follow me," said the Melancholy Dane. And so we came to the building where the baths were and went in. The spoke in Swedish to the attendant and the attendant nodded briskly.

"Remember," I said, "not cold water."

We went into the steam room.

"This is fine," said I. "Just like at home. I thought you said this was vigorous."

"Climb on this table," said the Dane. And we did.

IT GETS MORE VIGOROUS.

It was very hot and soothing. "In the old days and in the rural sections today," said the Melancholy Dane, who could be seen but dimly through the steam, "the Finns went into a hut where there was a fire with large rocks in it. When they were well heated they were taken out and water poured over them. This supplied the steam. The Lapps bathe so today. When they have steamed and been properly sweated, they go out and roll in the snow and then come back and sweat some more."

"Speak no more of the part about rolling in the snow," I said. We sweated for a while.

Then, out of the shadowy steam there loomed a large figure. He was a large Swede. He took your correspondent by one arm, got a good grip, and then began to beat your correspondent.

MONROE AGGIES IN SEMI-FINALS OF SALLY EVENT

Murphy's 26 Points Pace Georgians in 42-28 Win Over Greenbrier.

LEXINGTON, Va., March 11.—(P)—Crack basketball squads from four states moved into the semi-finals of the 14th annual south Atlantic tournament at Washington and Lee tonight.

Bethesda-Chevy Chase, of Bethesda, Md., defeated Staunton Military Academy, 32-23; Durham (N. C.) High upset Thomas Jefferson, of Richmond, Va., 36-27; Duke West (S. C.) High eliminated St. John's College High, of Washington, D. C., 30-27, and Monroe (Ga.) Aggies trounced Greenbrier Military school, 42-28.

Durham and Monroe meet in the opening semi-finals game tomorrow morning. Bethesda and Duke West play in the second game. The finals will be staged tomorrow night.

Murphy, last year's leading scorer and high-point man, in Monroe's one-point victory Thursday night came back with an even better performance today. He scored 26 points which added to his 16 in the opening round, gives him a substantial lead over the field.

Webb, rangy center, scored 13 points for Monroe, leaving one field for McAbee and one foul for Farmer to complete Monroe's 42 points.

Lambert at center was high scorer for the losers.

Today's victory marks the second successive year in which the Aggies have advanced to the semi-finals.

Monroe led, 11 to 9, at the half, but early in the second half the Aggies pulled further out in front, never to be in danger again.

Webb, Aggie center, was banished from the game on personal fouls, and it was after Webb left the game that Lambert began to pile up points for the losers.

MRS. J. C. WRIGHT HEADS GOLFERS

Mrs. J. C. Wright was elected president of the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association at the annual meeting and election of officers Friday morning at the Druid Hills Club. Mrs. O. B. Keeler was named vice president and Mrs. George Griffin Jr., was named secretary and treasurer.

Other officers include Mrs. Perry Crawford, chairman of the handicap committee; Mrs. Ben Barrow, chairman of the tournament committee, and Mrs. A. J. Kaiser, chairman of the publicity committee.

Club representatives include Mrs. W. D. Tulin, East Lake; Mrs. George Sherman, City; Mrs. W. D. Pollard, Druid Hills; Mrs. R. S. Rawlings, Ansley Park; Mrs. James S. Brown, Forrest Hills, and Mrs. W. D. Doak, chairman of the nomination committee.

A one-day medal play tournament with handicaps applying will open the tournament schedule March 29 on the Forrest Hills course.

Other tournaments including the annual city and state tournament to be sponsored by the Atlanta association, will be decided at later dates.

Following the business meeting, the members were guests of the Druid Hills Club in a blind golf tournament.

Mrs. O. B. Keeler with a net 79 was alone in winning the tournament. Mrs. Griffin, Mrs. Doak and Mrs. Wright, shared second place, one stroke away from the winner.

Jacket Swordsmen Meet Atlanta Club

The Georgia Tech fencing team will meet the Atlanta Fencing Club Saturday night at 7:30 at the Tech naval armory. Last week at Winter Park, Fla., the Tech team was defeated by Rollins College by a 14-3 score, a repetition of the score of the previous meeting of the two teams earlier in the season. The Jackets won one saber bout, tied in the epee, but were unable to score with the foil.

The match this Saturday with the Atlanta Fencing Club promises to be a good one as the fencing club has a strong team this year and will have Coach Morenus in the line-up.

Last Saturday the Tech freshmen fencers lost to a superior Tennessee Military Institute team 7-9. They will fence the Savannah High team here Saturday at 2 o'clock.

The Old and the New Mauldin Batting Grip

Marshall Mauldin, fleet-footed Cracker outfielder, after a great season at the bat in 1936, fell off in his hitting last year, likely because he "choked" the bat as shown at the left. This year he is gripping the stick virtually at the end and shows promise of raising his average, as well as getting more distance to his blows. He's the lead-off man.

Nelson Beats Horton Smith By Stroke

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., March 11.—(P)—Byron Nelson, of Reading, Pa., won the $3,000 Hollywood open golf tournament today with a 72-hole score of 275, a stroke in front of Horton Smith, of Chicago, and Frank Moore, of Mamaroneck, New York.

Nelson, who started the day eight strokes behind Smith, finished with a four-under-par 67 after a morning round of 69 to capture the top prize of $700.

Smith frittered away his lead with a morning 75 and finished with a 70 as Moore wound up with a pair of 69's. They collected $400 each.

Frank Walsh, of Chicago, duplicated Nelson's last two rounds for a 278, where he was even with Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion, who had a 70 and a 69 today.

Ed Oliver, of Wilmington, Del., who shared the 54-hole lead with Smith, faded to a 75 this afternoon for a 281. Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Westchester, Mass., was at the same figure.

MILEY DEFEATS BERG IN FINALS

BELEAIR, Fla., March 11.—(P)—Marian Miley, of Fort Pierce, Fla., and Lexington, Ky., today won the annual Belleair women's golf tournament, defeating Patty Berg, of Minneapolis, 2 and 1, in their 18-hole final match.

Miss Miley shot a 74 to Miss Berg's 76. Men's par for the course is 71.

The cards:

Kappa Alpha Cagers Open Tourney Today

The annual Kappa Alpha basketball tournament will start today on the Emory court at 2 o'clock.

Five Georgia chapters, from Tech, Emory, Georgia, Oglethorpe and Mercer will compete for the cup awarded by the Alumni Association.

The second game will be played at 3 o'clock and the finals tonight at 8.

Oglethorpe will be defending the cup, won last year. Three successive wins give a chapter permanent possession of the trophy.

Decatur Is Beaten By Griffin at Athens

Albany, Canton, Hartwell and Griffin Enter Semi-Finals of State Cage Tourney.

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—(P)—Quest for championship of the state high school Class B basketball trophy narrowed tonight to four teams—Albany, Griffin, Canton and Hartwell.

In semi-finals starting tomorrow morning, Albany, victor over Ringgold, 31-16, meets Griffin, conqueror of Decatur, 17-12; and Canton, which eliminated Brunswick, 28-19, battles Hartwell, 38-21 winner over Statesboro.

The C semi-finals pit Gibson, 29-28 victor over Lakeland, against Dacula, winner over Sonoma, 27-26; and Stillmore, which eliminated Woodland, 25-22, against Tucker, which put out Parrott, 39-23.

Finals in the D division bring together Cottondale, coached by Miss Annie Bryde Mullis, principal, and Spence. Cottondale beat Midway today, 39-15, and Spence defeated Cobbtown, 35-21.

Decatur fell before the onslaught of the fast-breaking offense of Griffin High. A last-minute rally failed to avail the Decatur boys.

During the first half Decatur held its ground well and finished the first period leading, 6 to 4. After the rest Griffin unleashed a swift attack and pulled ahead. Decatur was never able to catch up again.

Lumpkin Lost To Georgia Trackmen

ATHENS, Ga., March 11.—(P)—Georgia's track team, champions of the Southeastern Conference, received its second serious blow of the year here today when it was announced Quinton Lumpkin captain and ace weight man would be lost for the season due to a knee injury received last fall in football.

Weems O. Baskin, Georgia coach, announced he had been advised by physicians to keep Lumpkin on the sidelines in order that his knee might have complete rest, which is needed if it heals in time for him to play football next fall. Lumpkin is also captain of the 1938 football team.

Loss of Lumpkin followed by only a few weeks dropping of Bobby Packard from school, Packard won both the century and 220-yard dashes in the conference meet last year and was an outstanding favorite to repeat this time.

Lumpkin was third in the shot put last fall and fourth in the discus throw.

Junior College Sophs Beat Freshmen, 19-18

The sophomore basketball team at Atlanta Junior College won the boys' championship title from the freshman last night, 19 to 18, in a nip-and-tuck game at the Y. W. C. A.

For the losers Dustin played best, scoring 12 points. Oxman scored 8 points to top the sophomores.

The freshman girls won from the sophomores, 35 to 13, and Delta Sigma Pi of the Evening College had defeated Alpha Kappa Psi, 32 to 25, in games Thursday.

By JACK TROY.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—The first bona fide home run the Crackers' spring camp was today by Onnie Robinson, a school boy rookie pitcher from North Carolina. The regulars can't lay it off.

Robby, a strapping youngster six feet, teed off on Art Evans leading pitcher in the Sally league last year. His drive went off Marshall Mauldin's head in center and would have rolled to the fence in deep center had not a fence around a power transform stopped it.

SAVES SHUTOUT.

Robby's homer came in the 11th half of the fifth inning of the first intra-camp game and saved the Blue Birds the ignominy of being whitewashed. The regular won, 5 to 1, in seven innings.

Manager Paul Richards was highly impressed by the pep and spirit shown by the players in the game which followed a hard two-hour workout.

Starting plays afield were turned in by Al Rubeling, who made diving stop of a hard smash, covered and threw the runner out at first; Warren Huston, rool shortstop, who started a fast double play, and Marshall Mauldin who made two fine running catches.

WERK IS TERRIFIC.

Frank Werk was terrific at first. And I know this: He may not be able to play first base for the Crackers, owing to the fact that he lacks height, but he can play first base for somebody. I know this: Werk digs into the dirt for a throw and he handles his ball self nicely around the initial safe.

Furthermore, he is a better pitcher than he is a first baseman. And that's saying something. There's much to be said in favor of the former Nashville rookie.

First of the season in today game included: Emil Mallo's single in the first; Richard Starfield in the second; Johnny Hill with the first run; Warren Huston in the third; Robinson's homer in the fifth and Huston's double play.

CAUGHT STEALING.

Buster Chatham was the first to be thrown out trying to steal. Mauldin was the first to steal base. Buster stole one later on the game.

Johnny Hill, Emil Mallo, Rubeling and Frank Werk each got two hits for the regulars.

The pitchers worked for besides, each performing for one or one-half innings, except Rob Stuart and Bull Hammons. They divided the last inning.

Bobby Durham pitched first at the regulars' picnic, but for two runs in the second inning. John Michaels worked next and was winning pitcher. John is looking better. His arm trouble of last year and the year before seems to be a thing of the past. Michaels yielded no runs.

TWO OFF HARRIS.

Luman Harris allowed the regulars two more runs in the fifth and they got their final run in the sixth on a single by John Michaels.

Pea Green umpired and some of his decisions were loudly disputed. Something was said about "Bili Tom."

Manager Richards said today that as far as he is concerned J. Marsh, the speedball sensation, as good as on the club if he gets control. He looked great in his batting practice today. Nobody teed off on him. They do well to him at all.

But Marsh is a long shot to make the club this summer because he hasn't had much pitching experience. He has been an infielder most of his young career. But he has something in the way of pitching the Crackers are going to be able to use if he doesn't hurt his arm.

Marsh will pitch for the Blue Birds against Union Bag Sunda afternoons. None of the regular except Mauldin and Hill, are due to see any action. The regulars will work out beforehand.

CHAMP ENTERS.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 11.—(P)—Angelo Trullio, of New York city, the 1932 singles champion, entered the National A. A. U. handball tournament today with the receipt of his entry. The tournament will be held here by winning March 21.

Baer, Displaying Old-Time Punch, Whips Farr by Decision

EX-CHAMP SENDS TOMMY TO FLOOR THREE ROUNDS

Maxie in Great Shape; Beating Is Worst in Farr's Career.

NEW YORK, March 11.—(AP)—Baer, former heavyweight champion, took long strides along fistic comeback trail tonight giving Tommy Farr, British holder, a thorough drubbing in a sizzling 15-round bout before a capacity crowd in Madison Square Garden. Baer weighed 212 lbs. Farr 208 1-2.

Only the Welshman's gameness and a jaw that must have been of cast iron enabled him to go the distance. He was a badly whipped fighter as he left the ring after 15 rounds of bruising, savage fighting.

The former California playboy, in to serious business for the time since his days of the time, had the man who stayed rounds with Joe Louis on the floor three times.

Baer won 11 rounds on the Assorted Press score card. Farr given three and one was called a draw.

MAY GET TITLE SHOT. Baer, already licked by Louis and Max Baer, another former champion, the defeat tonight finally eliminates the Britisher in the championship picture and Baer in a commanding position to demand first shot at the holder of next June's battle between Louis and Max Schmeling, "Slugging Schlager" from Germany.

Displaying most of his old-time fighting ability, Baer sent Tommy Farr to the deck for one of the stinging lefts to the jaw in the second round, then just to show he is a versatile mauler landed in the third, with a right to the jaw. This time Farr took a count. The third knockdown came in the 14th from a short left to the jaw.

The former champion started like a wildcat, tired somewhat in the middle stages but rationally to capture the last two rounds after a four-round rest by the Welshman had the aid of 18,222 customers, a total of $74,409.22 to see the bruising battle, on their feet.

Baer fought most of the fight with his left eye completely closed. Cut in the third, the eye began to swell and by the fifth round was entirely closed. Despite the handicap Maxie charged in, lashed with both fists to give Tommy his worst licking of his fighting career.

BAER STARTS STRONG. Baer won only one of the first 10 rounds, but this was taken from him by Referee Arthur Donovan because of a low blow. This was the fourth, when Maxie made his best showing of evening. Baer was beginning to pay the penalty for the sizzling left he set at the start and Farr, who was in superb condition, landed him about no little.

More than once it appeared the former champion would knock Tommy Farr out. Not many heavyweights could have stood up under Baer's terrific punches in the earlier and closer rounds of the fight.

Tommy boxed as well as he did in the earlier rounds, but showed no punching prowess to speak of until late in the fight when he cut loose with a hard left that annoyed Max consistently.

Except for his bruised and swollen eye, Baer emerged unscathed. Farr had two bruised eyes, a bleeding nose and his body was red from Baer's body blows. The decision of Referee Donovan and the two judges was unanimous.

ponent's body with a large bundle of switches. I think I said it was a large Swede. It was impossible to turn over.

It felt something like being taken down to the basement at the old Fourth District school in Chattanooga. Except there they employed only one switch. This Swede had a bundle of them.

"Hey," I managed to call out to the Dane, "call off this madman."

"That's part of the bath," said the Dane, who also was being beaten. "It promotes perspiration. This is the first of the vigorous part."

Suddenly the Swede pulled your correspondent to his feet and stood him in a corner. Still a bit bewildered, your old timer stood there trying to see through the steam. And then, without warning, ice water descended in cascades and in sprays, cut like red-hot needles. It stabbed like driven nails. A shriek of pain was lost in the roar of the water. The big Swede held fast. There was no escape.

AND AFTER THAT.

And after that there was no continuity. I dimly recall being taken back to steam some more. There was another bit of beating and more cold water.

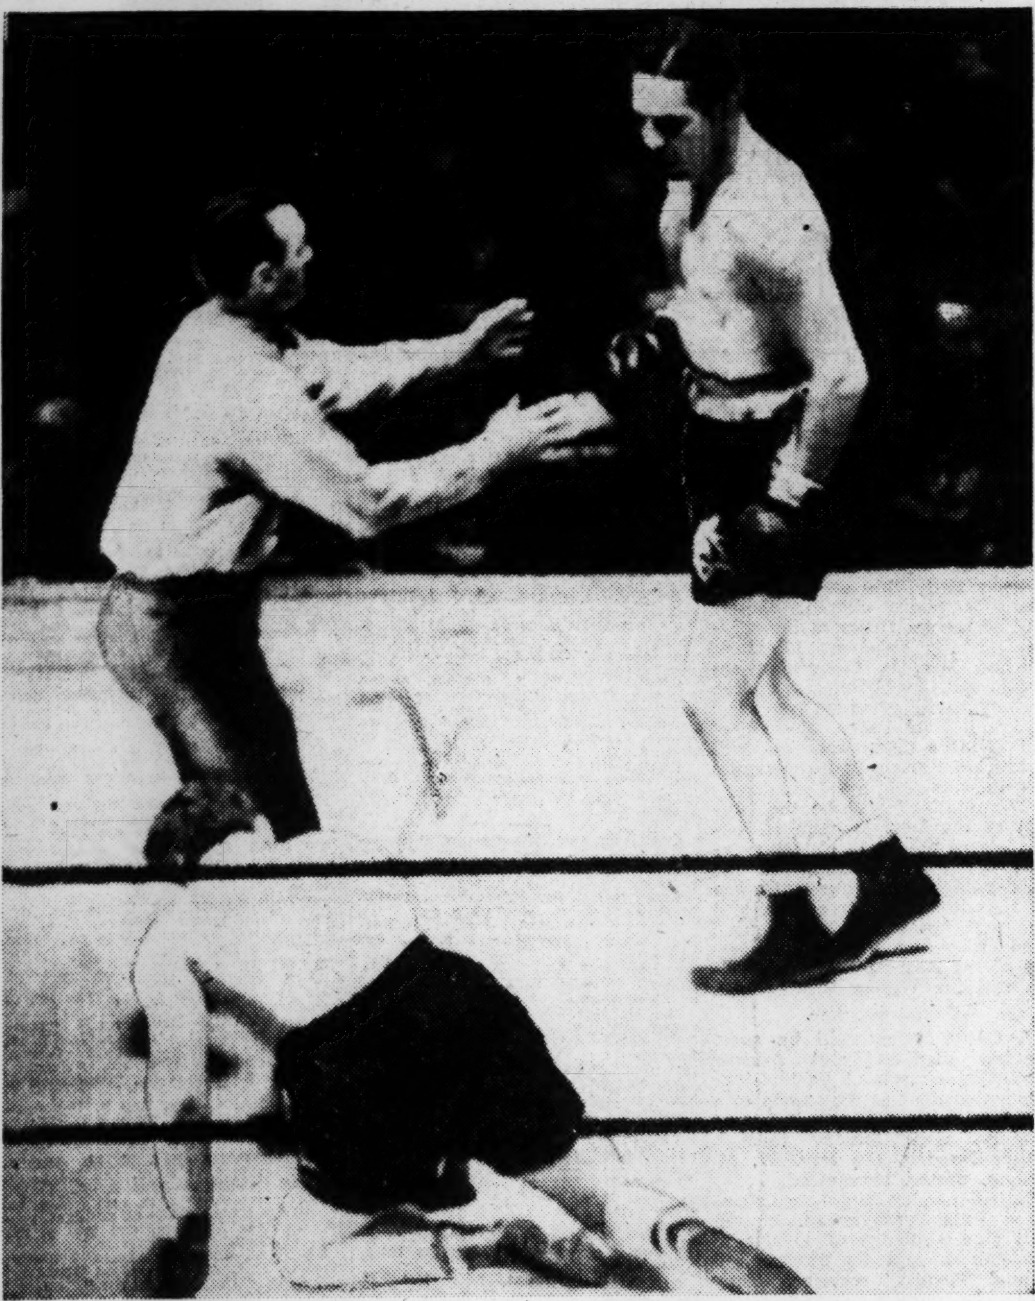

From there came an excursion to another room where the Swedish massage followed. A large Swede, perhaps the same one, tried in vain, but with several near approaches to success, to pull off an arm or a leg. He pounded until ribs were about to give way. He found old and long retired muscles and plucked them as Harpo Marx does the strings of a harp. He thumped, pulled, stretched and tried to pull each muscle from its moorings.

When it was done, we tottered out. "Those baths plus a diet of black bread and fish are what make the Finns such fine distance runners," said the Melanoly Dane.

"It had the reverse effect with me," I informed him. "I can't even walk."

We went home in a taxi. It seemed best. We really had no black bread or fish. It is no wonder the Finns are a hardy race. Those who survive those baths should live to be at least 100 years old.

Ferocious Baer Floors Farr in Third Round

Ex-Champion Maxie Baer came a long way back on the comeback trail last night with a clear-cut decision over Tommy Farr, the Welshman who stayed 15 rounds with Champion Joe Louis. The ferocious Baer floored his opponent three times, showing all the punch that carried him to the championship. In the photo above, Baer has just sent Tommy to the deck with a right to the temple after 30 seconds of fighting in the third round. Referee Donovan reached the count of six before Farr arose.

Speer Declared Winner of Wild Go With Wycoff

By THAD HOLT.

A pair of Coach W. A. Alexander's former grid pupils acted like they never saw the same campus last night at the Warren arena and at the stormy finish, Doug Wycoff was counted out while outside the ropes and burly Frank Speer was tickled pink to get the decision. It was the first defeat for the former Jacket fullback in eight starts here this season.

At Tech, Wycoff was a senior when Speer held the lowly rank of a freshman. Last night the boys behaved not at all like schoolmates and had some of their former professors seen them, no doubt eyebrows would have been lifted in horror—as if to say—"where in the world did those boys pick up those nasty habits?"

They were in the ring and out, up and down, throwing fists, knees and what-have-you, with Speer, the former all-American tackle, doing most of the rough work in a wild three-fall match that kept the big crowd in the aisles most of the way.

DODGER HOLDOUTS.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 11.—Manager Burtleigh Grimes located his Brooklyn Dodgers holdouts today. Shortstop Leo Durocher turned up at camp and watched the workout, then returned to St. Petersburg to await developments.

Outfielder Heinie Manush, Grimes learned, is working out with the Boston Red Sox at Sarasota.

Long Tom Winsett continued his heavy hitting in today's intrasquad game, belting a homer, his fourth in three games. Babe Phelps also hit for the circuit.

CARDS FACE YANKS.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11.—Bob Weiland, St. Johnson and Roy Henshaw will pitch against the New York Yankees tomorrow in the St. Louis Cardinals' first spring exhibition game, Manager Frankie Frisch announced today.

The rest of the lineup, Frisch said, will be Johnny Mize, 1b; Stuart Martin, 2b; Jimmy Webb, ss; Art Garibaldi, 3b; Joe Medwick, lf; Pepper Martin, cf; and Enos Slaughter, rf. Mickey Owen and Mike Rube will do the catching.

BROWNS HIT SOME.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 11.—The St. Louis Browns' catchers looked over the offerings of four of the team's pitchers today, but at the plate this time, instead of behind it.

Catchers Sam Harshbary, Buster Payton, Tommy Heath, Angelo Giuliano and Benny Huffman took part in the Browns' first batting practice of the training season. The sixth catcher, and the team's first-string one, Billy Sullivan, still is a holdout.

The Browns' infielders and outfielders report Monday.

TINNING SIGNS LOOKOUT PACT.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 11.—Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, said today that Bud Tinning, pitcher who has been a holdout, had signed his contract. Terms were not made public.

Engel said that Johnny Gill, slugging outfielder of Nashville, returned his contract unsigned today.

Cecil Travis looks good.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 11.—Shortstop

Cecil Travis, leading hitter for the Washington Senators last season, slapped the ball around in batting practice today like a fellow ready to take a flying start when league play begins.

He rapped out a .344 average last year. He is only 24 now and reported to camp weighing 20 pounds less than the 195 he sported at the start of the 1937 grind.

SOLTERS THREATENS TO LOAF.

PITTSBURGH, March 11.—Outfielder Julius Solters said tonight he will "loaf on my farm all year" unless the Cleveland Indians give him more than $17,000 for the coming season.

He said the Indians had offered him a contract calling for practically the same $11,000 he received last season.

JIM LINDSEY DRILLS WITH GIANTS.

BATON ROUGE, La., March 11.—Bill Terry turned over the reins of the New York Giants to assistants today and visited Governor Richard Leche's estate in the country.

Jim Lindsey, pitching veteran recently released by Brooklyn, turned up at the camp and received permission to work out with the New Yorkers.

RAY RADCLIFF SIGNS.

PASADENA, Cal., March 11.—Ray (Rip) Radcliff, hard hitting Chicago White Sox outfielder, deserted the hold-out ranks today, notifying Manager Jimmy Dykes he had signed his contract and was en route to spring camp.

Radcliff's capitation left only Zeke Bonura, first baseman, and Merritt (Sugar) Cain, outside the fold.

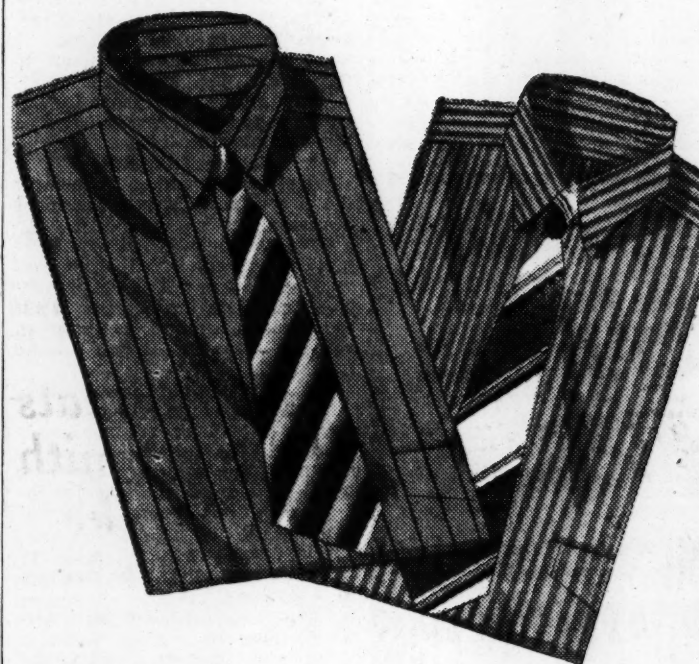

SKETER NEWSOME REGULAR.

LAKE CHARLES, La., March 11.—Connie Mack after watching his Philadelphia Athletics work out for three weeks, today picked the members of his number one team.

Selected to oppose the Cleveland Indians tomorrow in the first of a two-game series are:

Stan Sperry, second base; Skeeter Newsome, shortstop; Bill Weber, third; Bob Johnson, left field; Babe Barna, right field; Paul Easterling, center field; Gene Hesson, first base; Frank Hayes, catcher.

STATE TO COLLECT INTANGIBLES TAX FROM 'OUTSIDERS'

Law Department Holds Companies With Offices Here Subject to Levy.

Tax dollars from intangibles held in Georgia on property in other states will flow into the state treasury as the result of the new intangibles tax law, Assistant Attorney General W. H. Duckworth said yesterday.

Though he could not estimate the additional amount of money that will accrue to Georgia from this source, Duckworth said it would be in important figures.

Southern Bell to File. He conferred yesterday with attorneys for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, Inc., who indicated that the company will file intangibles tax returns in Georgia on holdings for nine southern states, he asserted.

The law department is contending that insurance companies holding mortgages in Georgia are subject to the same tax, he said. Duckworth declared where such companies maintain a business situs in this state they will be expected to return for taxation all mortgages and liquid assets under the new intangibles law.

Duckworth said it was the contention of the law department that the telephone company's main office in Atlanta made it subject to taxation in this state for money and mortgages held in this state for units operating elsewhere.

$3 on $100 in Stocks. The new intangibles law, passed during the recent extra session of the general assembly, places a tax of $3 on each $100 of fair market value of stocks, bonds and notes secured by real estate; 10 cents on each $100 of money in banks, and $1.50 on each $100 of fair market value of all notes or obligations secured by the federal housing administration.

Under provision of the new law, foreclosure action on a mortgage is banned in Georgia courts unless return has been made for taxation. The mortgagee, however, may recover his right to sue

Chairman Defies Roosevelt in TVA Investigation

Accusing the President of withholding full co-operation in correcting conditions within the TVA, Chairman Arthur Morgan yesterday defied the chief executive in a hearing at the White House. When Mr. Roosevelt cut him short during the conversation, he told the President not to interrupt. Mr. Roosevelt had called the inquiry to iron out difficulties within the Tennessee Valley Authority. The directors who conferred with the President are shown as they left the White House after the hearing, left to right, Harcourt Morgan, vice chairman; David Lilienthal and Arthur Morgan, chairman.

by paying the tax, plus 25 per cent penalty.

Last year Georgia collected approximately $1,250,000 on returns for $41,678,000 in stocks, bonds, money, notes and accounts. Most of this was assessed at 30 mills. Under the new law, the tax is three mills on stocks, bonds and mortgages, and one-tenth mill on money.

Under the new law, a "forgiveness clause" eliminates collection of back taxes where returns on intangibles are filed on or before March 15, 1938.

COMPTROLLER DENIES TVA FUND SHORTAGE

WASHINGTON, March 11.—(AP) Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, read to the senate today a letter from Acting Comptroller General Elliott denying that the accounting office had reported a $1,000,000 shortage in TVA accounts.

McKellar said that Elliott's letter refuted charges made in the senate by Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, that the TVA accounts were short.

PRISON DENIES CAPONE HAS RESUMED DUTIES SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—(AP)—The Alcatraz prison warden's office today denied a report that Al Capone, one-time Chicago gang leader, had been returned to his former duties in the prison yard.

Several weeks ago federal authorities announced Capone had been taken to the prison hospital after he became "mentally ill."

After making the telegrams sent to Chairman Morgan a part of the record, he offered to adjourn the hearings until next week, if Chairman Morgan would then "be prepared to answer factual questions."

"My first statement covers that point," Morgan answered.

"In other words, you still decline to answer factual questions if you had a week's notice, Chairman Morgan?" the President asked.

"My statement covers that question, I think."

Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Gives Annual Black and White Ball

Striking decorations emphasized the black and white motif featuring the dance given last evening at the Georgia Tech chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity. The Egyptian ballroom of the shrine mosque, where the dance is given, provided an excellent background for the elaborate decorations in which the black and white colors predominated. The exquisite black and white gown worn by the feminine guests and a proverbial black evening attire worn by the hosts further accentuated the color motif. The ballroom ceiling was covered entirely by black and white lighting and similar streamers lining the walls, which were banded with black and white. Intervals with palms, foliage and small pine trees. Miss Helen Randall, president of the chapter, was an attractive woman of black silk net, trimmed

Georgia Colonists To Honor Memory Of Mrs. J. M. High

Georgia Society of Daughters of American Colonists at the annual meeting held yesterday at the Piedmont Driving Club, passed a resolution to place a bronze tablet to mark the Hattie Wilson High children's room at Carnegie library.

Mrs. Toulman Williams and Mrs. D. R. Peete, daughters of the late Mrs. J. M. High, endowed the room at the library, and Georgia Daughters of American Colonists desiring to honor Mrs. High, who founded the state organization in 1925, will give the bronze tablet, as well as $50, to purchase special books for the Hattie Wilson High children's room.

A volume of Colonial records collected from the Georgia Gazette, Savannah Republican and Savannah Advertiser from 1733 to 1796, has been compiled and presented to the Department of Archives, and these records are invaluable to students of history.

Miss Quillian and Mr. Thompson Honored by Mr., Mrs. Carl Evans

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Evans entertained at a buffet supper last evening at their home on Amsterdam avenue for Miss Christine Quillian, popular bride-elect and her fiancé, William M. Thompson.

Pink and white flowers were used in effective arrangement as the decorations throughout the home. The table in the dining room was centered with a white alabaster bowl filled with pink roses and flanked on either side by silver candlesticks holding burning tapers.

Mrs. Evans wore a blue crepe dress, and Miss Quillian was gowned in blue lace veiling blue taffeta offset at the neckline with a cluster of blue cornflowers and yellow field flowers. Present were Miss Quillian, Mr. Thompson, Misses Frances Quillian, Mildred Trawick, Mrs. A. F. Quillian, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. C. E. Sisson, Goodrich Wright, Clarence Redfern, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Robertson.

Miss Beverly Baird Weds Mr. Marshall

Miss Beverly Baird became the bride of John Thomas Marshall Jr. yesterday at a ceremony performed by Rev. H. B. Wade in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride wore a hyacinth blue ensemble with black accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of gardenias and valley lilies.

The bride is the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Noah W. Baird and received her education at Girls' High school and the University of Georgia.

The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Marshall Sr. He received his education at Tech High school and the Georgia School of Technology. He is connected with the State Highway Department.

The couple left for a wedding trip. On their return they will reside in Fairburn temporarily.

Mrs. Wesley Feted At Bridge-Luncheon

Mrs. Joseph R. Cothran Jr., entertained at a bridge-luncheon yesterday at her home on Piedmont road in honor of Mrs. Frank Wesley, of Pittsburgh, who is visiting Mrs. Horace Bell and Mrs. W. D. Hall. Mrs. Joseph R. Cothran assisted her daughter in entertaining.

The house was beautifully decorated with daffodils, forsythia and gladioli, and the beautifully appointed dining room table was centered with spring flowers.

Invited guests were Mesdames Wesley, Bell, Hall, Earl Chandler, R. A. Clark, John M. Nichols, James C. Atkinson Jr., Morgan Sutton, F. S. Gonnell, J. F. Hunter, Jr., and Miss Louise Mackay.

Mrs. Wesley will be central figure today at the luncheon and bridge party at which Miss Roberta Robson will entertain at her home on Kirkwood road.

Sigma Delta Dance Is Featured By Lovely Wisteria Decorations

The ballroom of the Capital City Country Club resembled a stria garden for the Sigma Delta sorority dance given last evening by members of this popular organization. Garlands of wisteria trailed across the ceiling and hung from the chandeliers.

Either side of the orchestra and a wisteria tree and orchid-laden lights shed a soft lavender illumination over the setting.

Dinner was served from attractively appointed tables graced with the center by garlands of wisteria. Miss Rebecca Wight, president of the sorority, and her sister, John Chery, occupied seats at the head of the table reserved for sorority officers and their dates.

Miss Wight wore a stunning gown of white satin trimmed around the bottom of the skirt with hand-painted flowers. Miss Mary Jane Thweatt, vice president, accompanied by Tucker Callaway, wore a white crepe ensemble.

Miss Patricia Stewart, secretary, escorted by Charlie Hopkins, was attired in a gown of white crepe trimmed with white fringe.

Miss Georgia Rauschenberg, treasurer, whose date was Ed Whitmore, wore a striking gown fashioned of navy blue net over dark blue taffeta.

Prior to intermission the hostesses and their escorts formed the name "Sigma Delta" in a double line for a grand march. Myriads of wisteria petals fell from the ceiling over the youthful dancers as they circled the ballroom.

Should father attempt to take his family on a trip he again finds that tastes vary. Never do the whole family want to go in the same direction, and surely they do not like to travel at the same speed. When the family happens to have one of those rare evenings at home together they soon find out that tastes vary about radio programs also. Someone will soon politely ask, "Would you mind if I change the station?" Sometimes this happens again, until at length one more nervous than the rest explodes, "Will you turn that d—mn thing off?"

In the garden it is all so different. There is a playground for our children, secluded spots for romance for our bigger boys and girls. For the elders the comfortable chairs in the out-of-door-living room provide rest and relaxation after a busy day meeting the world. Here in your own small garden you can group enough variety of pleasures to entertain the entire family.

A small outlay of cash to do the necessary clean-up and paint-up, scrub-up and shrub-up. Just add this outdoor room which makes it not only possible to spend your summer at home, but more enjoyable than those planned vacations which so often fall short in pleasures and run over in cost.

Dear old dad, no longer does he need to stay alone and unhappy during our hot summer months. Mother and the children can stay at home and keep well. Invest a bit in comfortable furniture for your yard, add the garden kitchenette and you will find that even the old family bus will rest in its garage. This will relieve the already overflowing highways where accidents hourly occur. Even insurance men do not warn us of the dangers of gardening. As time passes the old homestead constantly draws the children back, for even though they have bought homes and established their own gardens happy childhood memories are tightly bound here in mothers' garden.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

SANTA FE, N. M., Thursday, March 10.—Yesterday afternoon I saw a most unique project outside of Amarillo, Texas. An old clubhouse, near a municipal golf course, had been taken over by a group of women and turned into a tuberculosis preventorium for small children. One woman was the moving spirit. She started out with a fund of 85 cents and today, with the help of the WPA, a new building has been built and 35 children are being restored to health.

Amarillo's housing project is also quite unique, in that the women on the project have taken an old store and equipped it as a practice house. The women put in the partitions, papered the walls, refinished the floors and laid the floor coverings. They renovated old furniture and made new furniture out of packing cases and an old tool shed in the backyard. They have made a very satisfactory sewing room and store room.

They sodded the yard and laid a brick walk. In fact, they proved that, with proper guidance, a woman can do almost anything about a house. Equipped with the training they have received here, the women have gone into homes where the mother is ill and have done her work. They also show people on the economic level of the WPA worker how best to stretch meager incomes so that the standard of living may be the highest possible.

I must tell you one amusing story. Just before my lecture last night, a little girl called our rooms at the hotel and said to my secretary: "I want to speak to Mrs. Roosevelt. My mother and daddy are going to the lecture, but I am not allowed to go, so I want to ask Mrs. Roosevelt to broadcast her lecture so I can hear it." We decided that Texas children will get on in the world, nothing seems to daunt them.

We got off the train this morning in Belen, N. M., at 7:35, and since no one was in sight to meet us, everyone in sight offered to drive us to Albuquerque. We decided, however, that someone would call for us. Because we had had no breakfast, we sat at the counter in the restaurant and ordered coffee and rolls. In a few minutes, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Calkins came for us and obligingly joined us at breakfast.

Mr. Calkins reminded me that he had met me 20 years ago when my husband and I went to Silver City, N. M., to see the Fergusons. Mrs. Ferguson is now Mrs. John Greenway. I asked Mr. Calkins if he had seen her lately and he said that two years ago they sat next to each other at a lunch counter just like the one we were sitting at.

The first glimpse of these mountains always thrills me. They lay ahead of us to our right, snow-capped with marvelous shadows on the slopes. We drove through an Indian pueblo on the way to Albuquerque, which interested me very much because I had never seen one.

Once in the hotel, we had little time to ourselves. First a press conference, then a meeting with the WPA workers under Nancy Lane, who is the director of the women's and professional projects in the state. The state administrator, Mr. Fred C. Healy, was there also and I was given a hurried glimpse into the work of each division. Then the National Youth Administration director, Mr. Tom Popejoy, asked me to meet his advisory committee for a few minutes. The rest of my tale must wait till tomorrow.

TODAY'S CHARM TIP

Hold your head high and enter a room as if you were the beauty expected. Thus you come closer to being a beauty than if you weigh your mind down with your inadequacy. They're both cultivated frames of mind, after all.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

If a problem column editor has the hardihood to publish a letter from a bachelor describing his ideal for a wife, she is certain to be swamped with letters from the lassies. Some of them sneer at his setting his stakes so high. Some of them applaud his idealism. Some of them swear they personally his "dream of fair women." All of them would like his name and address. In answer to the most recent of these bachelor dreams a group of girls replies in part:

"Our Spinsters' Club had a good laugh over the list of requirements for a wife that one of our bachelor correspondents named and we decided that it might be a good lesson to him and to a lot of other swell-headed males to hear what

1. "He" must be trustworthy and though we can't hold him to account for his past as he would hold us, we must have assurance that he will be faithful in future.

2. He must be able to make a living when he marries and have ambition enough to do much more than this as time passes.

3. He must have pride in his personal appearance, shave every day, never be seen shaggy-haired and unkempt. Unpressed breeches, wilted collars, soiled handkerchiefs and rusty shoes are unpardonable sins.

4. He must have good manners in public and be courteous in private, considerate of a woman's feelings and friendly toward her family and her associates.

5. He must have ways and means of entertaining himself preferably by reading and by engaging in sports with those of his own sex.

6. He must not have a weakness for alcohol or gambling.

7. He must be the sort of man that other men respect which means that he is so honest he isn't tempted to turn sharp corners in business.

8. He must have passable table manners and speak grammatically and sit up in his chair and conduct himself with dignity.

9. He must have courage and tenderness.

10. We prefer to have him handsome, humorous, witty, with a good appetite and a good digestion, handy around the house and unceremonious of the housekeeping.

This is a complete picture of all our boy-friends. I might add that no one of them has more than half of our requirements, if that."

overweight you need not be afraid to reduce—but be chary of your method.

Even while reducing the body requires the same amounts of the protective food elements—protein, minerals, vitamins and water—as on a normal diet. Your calories cut should be taken only in carbohydrates (sugars and starches) and fats.

The leaflet "Pointers to Slimness," which contains a list of the protective foods, may be used as a guide in planning your own menus to keep your reducing diet at the highest health level. Any reducing diet which fails to include the protective foods cannot maintain and improve health.

Be sure that your reducing diet provides a sufficient number of calories to take care of the body's internal functioning. This required number of calories is called the basal metabolism, or the number of calories used by the body at rest. You cannot keep well on a starvation diet because even at rest you are using calories for breathing, circulation and other body processes.

Basal metabolism is affected by individual size, shape and tissue composition. The average basal metabolism for women ranges from 1,000 to 1,200 calories a day. For this reason, the number of calories in our daily diets are based on 1,200 calories a day in accordance with the fundamental requirements of the average woman. If your calorie intake does not exceed the number you expend at complete rest, your activity draws on and burns the stored body fat. Some of you with a high basal metabolism will be able to add to the foundation diet and still get slim, but none of you can subtract from it without endangering your health.

Because of the health angle the medical profession is intensely interested in reducing. Obesity is a health handicap which overtaxes the heart, impedes circulation and increases the burden of kidneys, liver and pancreas.

The easy method of eating all you please and then taking something more to reduce is highly questionable. Before taking anything to induce weight loss, ask your doctor about it. His approval means that it has been passed by the American Medical Association as safe and sane.

The entire popular conception of reducing has gone conservative. We still reduce to improve appearance but we are taking no chances with our health, for health is the real basis of beauty.

THE RABIES SITUATION.

Rabies is pronounced like babies except that it has three syllables—ra-bi-eh. If you refer to a dog or even to a human being who purports to have rabies, the correct adjective is ra-bi-et-ic.

Latest collection of clippings received include item reporting the indignation of Providence (R. I.), county authorities over what they deem exorbitant fees demanded by the state laboratory for examination of heads of dogs for what purports to be evidence of rabies.

The solons of the town Cumberland regard that as excessive, and the town clerk opined that a commercial laboratory would probably do the same job for 10 simoleons. Net result of the "recent mad dog scare" in Cumberland township, Providence county, Rhode Island, according to item, is $150 in the red. Ah, but think of all the folks who were frightened into (a) having their dogs vaccinated against rabies or (b) taking Pasteur treatment.

Detroit, Mich., comes in with a column item, illustrated with a photograph of two boys, among 11 persons bitten by an allegedly rabid dog. Of the 15 rabid dogs found in Detroit in September, the item says, only two had been vaccinated against the disease. Of the 15,000,000 dogs in North America probably not over 2,000,000 have been vaccinated against rabies. So what? Don't think now. Wait till the scare subsides. The Detroit item goes right on to say that dog owners should have their dogs vaccinated. "Vaccination materially reduces a dog's chance of becoming rabid." That is evidently the expert's story and they mean to stick to it. The Lord only knows how they arrive at their conviction about that.

Youngstown, Ohio, item tells of the death of a woman from "post-vaccinal paralysis" after taking anti-rabies serum as a preventive for hydrophobia. The woman's physician certified the cause of death and said it was a rare occurrence. Well, anyway, it is rarely acknowledged. Frankly, I suspect not a few deaths arbitrarily ascribed to rabies in man are actually due to the Pasteur virus administered in the attempt to prevent rabies from developing. What is Pasteur virus or "vaccine" or "serum"? It is an emulsion made from the dried spinal cord of an animal that has died of some inoculated disease purporting to be rabies. I say purporting to be rabies because the specific cause of rabies in animals has never been determined and the entire pathology and treatment of rabies is therefore a matter of guesswork. The decision whether it is or is not rabies rests with the laboratory employee who tries to make up his or her mind whether certain altered cells or artifacts found in the microscopic section of the dog's brain are or are not "Negri bodies."

The Youngstown item adds that the doctor who certifies the Pasteur virus fatality pointed out that such a death should not deter others from taking Pasteur treatment. Well, it gives me pause.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Autointoxication.

Dr. — says that autointoxication occurs in the small intestines where absorption would be expected to occur, although he agrees with you that absorption does not occur in the large intestine. (A. D. B.)

Answer—Still, that doesn't explain "autointoxication." We must not confuse quaint medical fancies or traditions with scientific facts. There is no good evidence that anybody who is still able to be up and about ever suffers from "autointoxication."

Acne Lotion.

Your acne lotion cleared my acne up completely several years ago. I had taken several X-ray treatments and consulted two skin specialists without much benefit, then sent for your monograph and found the lotion amazingly effective. Have given it to several friends who all think it is wonderful. (Mrs. J. H.)

Answer—Glad to send the monograph on Acne—Blackheads and Pimples to any correspondent who asks for it (but no clipping!) and incloses a stamped envelope bearing his address.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Scheinberg, of Memphis, Tenn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel, to Lewis Kramer, Atlanta, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kramer.

Answer—Still, that doesn't explain "autointoxication." We must not confuse quaint medical fancies or traditions with scientific facts. There is no good evidence that anybody who is still able to be up and about ever suffers from "autointoxication."

Acne Lotion.

Your acne lotion cleared my acne up completely several years ago. I had taken several X-ray treatments and consulted two skin specialists without much benefit, then sent for your monograph and found the lotion amazingly effective. Have given it to several friends who all think it is wonderful. (Mrs. J. H.)

Answer—Glad to send the monograph on Acne—Blackheads and Pimples to any correspondent who asks for it (but no clipping!) and incloses a stamped envelope bearing his address.

THE RABIES SITUATION.

Rabies is pronounced like babies except that it has three syllables—ra-bi-eh. If you refer to a dog or even to a human being who purports to have rabies, the correct adjective is ra-bi-et-ic.

Latest collection of clippings received include item reporting the indignation of Providence (R. I.), county authorities over what they deem exorbitant fees demanded by the state laboratory for examination of heads of dogs for what purports to be evidence of rabies.

The solons of the town Cumberland regard that as excessive, and the town clerk opined that a commercial laboratory would probably do the same job for 10 simoleons. Net result of the "recent mad dog scare" in Cumberland township, Providence county, Rhode Island, according to item, is $150 in the red. Ah, but think of all the folks who were frightened into (a) having their dogs vaccinated against rabies or (b) taking Pasteur treatment.

Detroit, Mich., comes in with a column item, illustrated with a photograph of two boys, among 11 persons bitten by an allegedly rabid dog. Of the 15 rabid dogs found in Detroit in September, the item says, only two had been vaccinated against the disease. Of the 15,000,000 dogs in North America probably not over 2,000,000 have been vaccinated against rabies. So what? Don't think now. Wait till the scare subsides. The Detroit item goes right on to say that dog owners should have their dogs vaccinated. "Vaccination materially reduces a dog's chance of becoming rabid." That is evidently the expert's story and they mean to stick to it. The Lord only knows how they arrive at their conviction about that.

Youngstown, Ohio, item tells of the death of a woman from "post-vaccinal paralysis" after taking anti-rabies serum as a preventive for hydrophobia. The woman's physician certified the cause of death and said it was a rare occurrence. Well, anyway, it is rarely acknowledged. Frankly, I suspect not a few deaths arbitrarily ascribed to rabies in man are actually due to the Pasteur virus administered in the attempt to prevent rabies from developing. What is Pasteur virus or "vaccine" or "serum"? It is an emulsion made from the dried spinal cord of an animal that has died of some inoculated disease purporting to be rabies. I say purporting to be rabies because the specific cause of rabies in animals has never been determined and the entire pathology and treatment of rabies is therefore a matter of guesswork. The decision whether it is or is not rabies rests with the laboratory employee who tries to make up his or her mind whether certain altered cells or artifacts found in the microscopic section of the dog's brain are or are not "Negri bodies."

The Youngstown item adds that the doctor who certifies the Pasteur virus fatality pointed out that such a death should not deter others from taking Pasteur treatment. Well, it gives me pause.

MEN LOVE Peppy GIRLS!

If you are happy and peppy and full of fun, men will take you places. But if you are cross and always tired out, men won't like you. Men don't like "quiet" girls. They want girls who are full of pep.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening discomforts from the functional disorders which women endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Pinkham's Compound, made especially for women from Nature's whole herbs and roots, has helped women for over 60 years.

Maternal Love for Every Child Stressed by Welfare Worker Here

Hundreds Hear Dr. William H. Kiser Jr. in Address at Dinner Meeting of Southern Regional Conference at Biltmore Hotel.

Maternal love is the cornerstone which must be laid for every child, Dr. William H. Kiser Jr., of the staff of the Welfare Society, said last night in an address before several hundred child welfare workers at a dinner meeting of the southern regional conference. The second session of the two-day conclave opens this morning at the Biltmore hotel.

In his talk on "Lessons We Have Learned From Our Foster Children," Dr. Kiser said:

"Lack of maternal love is the basis for many of the problems which we have to cope with. The eternal cry from children placed with foster parents is that they are not loved, they are neglected and the actions of a child are not always as they should be. They think they are not loved and they become unruly. Moving them from one home to another hinders any part a foster mother can play in making them feel that they (the children) will be loved and treated like real sons and daughters.

When a child is put into a home at an age where impressions may be made, the child always considers that place home and no matter how many changes are made, that first place is home."

Dr. Kiser cited several cases of children placed in homes under the supervision of the Welfare Society and outlined the problems and difficulties confronted by the welfare workers.

Captain Frank Spencer, vice chairman of the board of the state Department of Public Welfare, spoke on "Georgia's Progress in Child Welfare Services" and emphasized the need for workers to go out into the field of child welfare work in order to have a more complete understanding of the suffering of people and their needs.

"A person has to see to believe the conditions existing in the state. Rural sections are by far the worst. Georgia has launched a welfare ship to sail over the state and in it are supplies and workers to aid in the program. There must be a greater understanding of child welfare services in the state program. Georgia needs more social workers in this program. The state is still improving in this work. Under the present program there are 21 child welfare workers in the state; 45 child institutions; 10 homes for delinquents; 25 dependent homes; four licensed child-placing agencies, and eight day nurseries. The navigator of Georgia's ship is Miss Louisa Fitzsimons, and with her at the helm Georgia has gone far into the sea of assistance in child welfare work."

Governor Rivers extended greetings to the delegates from 10 southern states attending the dinner, to "a state where the hearts of the people are in tune with the work of the Child Welfare Association and to a state where for the first time, chain gangs and poor houses have been abolished."

In his discussion of Georgia's aid to children, he said that now 200,000 children are attending school, who two years ago could not attend because of lack of books and money.

Lamar Murdaugh, director of State Department of Public Welfare, presided.

GEORGIA ENVISAGED AS VACATION LAND

'Progress Days' Speaker Urges Development of Recreation Facilities.

STATESBORO, March 11.—(P) Summer vacation grounds, with "an abundance of free wild life available for people to see, to photograph and to enjoy," were described tonight as one of the south's greatest undeveloped assets, by Dr. William H. Kiser Jr., director of rural education at Cornell University.

"Why should great portions of our public spend uncomfortable hours each summer crossing the hot and sultry middle west to see a few bears and possibly a deer or so when they could be induced either to stay in the east or swing down to the south for a similar experience?" he asked.

Theme of Programs.
Dr. Palmer spoke at the first of the four day Georgia Progress Days' program at the South Georgia Teachers' College. Marvin S. Pittman, president of the college, arranged the two-day program around the theme "Science in Georgia Progress."

"We feel that you may be overlooking your greatest asset," Dr. Palmer said. "Not many years ago the region of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan thought that the only possible returns could come from the lumbering interests. Now, the tourist trade brings in annually a more profitable and consistent return."

"Why shouldn't more of this come to the south?" he asked.

He said wild life conservation and outdoor recreation programs brought a need for a "new technique of teaching, new outlooks on life." He discussed programs of other states and regions and reviewed progress in wild life protection.

Tomorrow, Dr. Hanor A. Webb, professor of chemistry at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., will speak on "Anaemic Science—Its Cause and Cure." Dr. Pittman will give a second talk on wild life, and the program will conclude with a fish fry and barbecue.

DR. W. A. WIRT DIES; GARY EDUCATOR, 64

Famed for Branding F. D. R. American 'Kerensky.'

GARY, Ind., March 11.—(P) Dr. William A. Wirt, founder of the Gary educational plan of "work-study-play" and precipitator of a congressional investigation in 1934 when he said "brain trusters" had told him President Roosevelt was "only the Kerensky of this revolution," died today. He was 64.

Superintendent of Gary schools from 1907 until his death, Dr. Wirt was summoned to Washington four years ago to explain a letter in which he had said that some of the administration's advisers were plotting to destroy "the America of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln."

A special house committee headed by Representative Butler, of Indiana, North Carolina, conducted an investigation. Nothing came of it.

MAN HELD FOR DEATH IN AUTO CRASH CASE

Fred Smith, 31-year-old negro, was bound over to Fulton county under $1,000 bond on a charge of manslaughter in recorder's court yesterday as the result of an accident February 27 in which Mrs. D. L. Johnson, 83, of New Orleans, was fatally injured.

Mrs. Johnson was injured when the car driven by her brother-in-law, O. K. Lewis, of a Penn avenue address, collided with Smith's car at the intersection of Rock Springs road and Highland avenue. She died March 3 at Emory University hospital. Smith, appearing before Councilman Howard Haire, sitting for Recorder A. W. Callaway, was charged with manslaughter.

Interesting facts about snakes in South Africa were told to me the other day. Mr. James Campbell, one of my fellow passengers on my present round-the-world journey, told how he has captured many deadly cobras alive.

" weren't you afraid?" I asked him.

"Yes, in one way I was afraid, but I took care to guard myself. I used a forked stick to hold the head down, and then grasped the snake in my right hand, just behind the head, and held it firmly between the first and second fingers.

"In that position it would not turn its head. While I was carrying it to town, it would wriggle, but I held it by the arm. The longest cobra I caught alive was five and a half feet long."

"Were you ever bitten?"

"Yes, just once. I was walking potash. My leg was sore for two weeks."

"Why did you go out hunting poisonous snakes?"

"To sell them to the Snake Park at Port Elizabeth, a small city in South Africa. They were bought so soon as they were brought in and used in making serum. The serum helps to save people from danger of death after they are bitten by poisonous snakes. I got 10 shillings ($2.50 for each large cobra and five shillings for a small one.

"Later Mr. Campbell told me about the type of cobra which bit him.

"It was a ringall," he said, "a snake which has the power of spitting venom to a distance of four or five feet. The venom will blind a cat if it gets into its eyes. I have seen an ordinary house person kill a ringall. I've also watched a secretary bird killing ringalls and other cobras."

TARZAN THE FEARLESS

No. 42

The new prisoners were led to the place of the Tree-God. When Mary saw Tarzan, she uttered a little cry and rushed into his arms. "Father!" They stood thus in affectionate embrace, when Mary said: "I thought you were safe. Tarzan told us you were hidden in a cave."

"I was, but they found me." The emaciated man sighed dejectedly as he hugged his daughter to him. And now... we shall die together. "You see, it was all a trap," he said bitterly. "This Tarzan framed this whole thing; put us right into the arms of these devils."

Meanwhile, Kagundo was furious when he found that Tarzan had escaped his raiders. He called Balzo, the leader, to him. "You shall die, as I warned," Balzo hung his head. It was what he had expected. He had never dreamed of escaping the wrath of powerful Kagundo.

"At once you shall die," the witch-doctor shrieked; "you shall be devoured by the Tree-God, for you have offended him by allowing his enemy, the Tree-Demon to escape. And the howling of your death, Balzo, shall be a sample of the fate that awaits our white captives!"

NATIONAL USED CAR EXCHANGE WEEK

MARCH 5
TO MARCH 12

Once in a blue moon, price situations occur which make it bad business NOT to buy. THIS is one of those times. The used car situation here is unusual. Automobile dealers are taking unusual steps to solve it. National Used Car Exchange Week is not "just another sale." Values are exceptional

Prices are way below those of several months ago. Consider only your own interests—and you'll KNOW you CAN'T PASS UP THIS CHANCE to get a BETTER CAR WITH MODERN FEATURES AT A ROCK-BOTTOM PRICE.
